An Officer of the Bashi Bazouks.

Artillery Turkish Contingent

In vol. i. of The Illustrated Times, pp. 146, 173, 243, 413, 459, are references to the Bashi-Bazonka. P. 173 gives a print of 'An Officer of Artillery attached to General Beatson's Irregular Cavalry,' about which it is written :

"The uniform, as here depicted, is a kind of half tunic of dark blue cloth, braided across the breast and up the back with gold cord, with scarlet and gold facings. The trousers are of dark blue with a scarlet stripe, and are met just below the knee by tight-fitting boots. The forage cap is scarlet, with a gold band and top-knot. In full dress, a scarlet helmet is worn, ornamented with gold and surmounted by a plume of scarlet horse hair."

Presumably this was the uniform of the English officers only.
