CHARLES W. STRUBLE

Chief of Police

EFFICIENCY—that is the big thing these days in business and public service.

Efficiency is the thing which has given Kalamazoo the right to claim the best police force for a city of its size in the country.

But to have efficiency in a police department there must be the right man at the head of the department.

Kalamazoo has the rtght man. He is Charles W. Struble, who in less than ten years climbed from the rank of patrolman to head of the department. There was no jumping around various jobs to get there. There was no outside pull—it was a straight climb right from the bottom to the top.

Chief of Police Struble was appointed to the force as a policeman May 7, 1902. After serving in that place for nearly six years he was promoted to captain of the force. In a little less than two years after he had been promoted by the police commission to the captaincy of the department, he was advanced to chief of the department and the commission which made the change has never found reason to regret the advancement of Mr. Struble to his present place. He was made chief January 1, 1912.

There has been a wonderful change in the department since he assumed charge of the force. Practically nothing of the old force, save its best men, are left.

Two years ago the police headquarters of Kalamazoo was located in a small room of the old city hall on South Burdick street. Probably no city of the size of Kalamazoo had to put up with so few conveniences for its police department as did Kalamazoo. The county jail was used for a lock-up, and so congested was the place that the officers of the department had to share their small offices with the men.

During the past few months one of the most modern police stations in Michigan has been erected for the Kalamazoo department. The Gamewell alarm system has been installed. The department has a complete auto service, with patrol and emergency car. There are private offices in the new building for all of the officers of the department and every convenience for the men, including a large gymnasium on the top floor and a billiard room.

The department is perfectly organized. There is a traffic squad, a creation of the new chief, and better protection for the city during the night than Kalamazoo ever experienced before. Outside districts are now furnished protection.

Absolute harmony exists in the department and although the department is limited in the size of its force, the service afforded Kalamazoo is excellent.

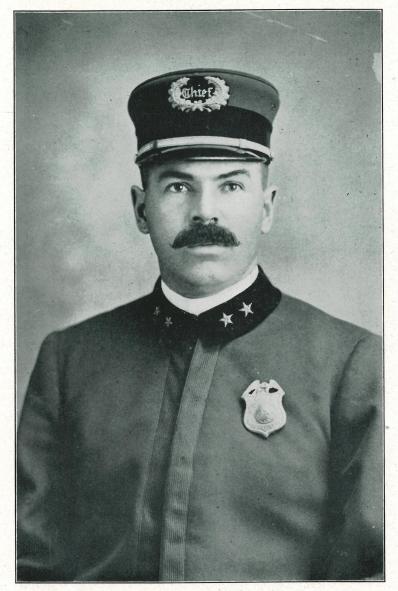

All of this has been brought about through the head of the department. He has confidence in his men and that gives the men confidence in him. He treats the members of the department as men should be treated, and this has resulted in bringing to the force an ideal class of men—men who are clean, active, energetic, and at all times ready to serve no matter what the danger may be.

The men have confidence in Chief Struble because of his own record with the department. He has never been found wanting. He believes in law enforcement, no matter what the danger to himself might be. It was Chief Struble, when serving as a policeman, who made the first arrest during the street car strike in this city a number of years ago. Mobs filled the streets and no officer had attempted to bring the disturbing leaders to headquarters. It was Struble who faced a mob, arrested a leader and ended the street rioting. He showed the same daring a year or so before in a gun fight with burglars.

Sergeant Kerns had been shot through the hand before Struble took up the chase for the burglars. Although bullets cut his clothing, he did not give up his fight until the men had eluded him. Struble was given his first promotion in the department soon after this affair.

Kalamazoo can congratulate itself on having one of the best police departments in the country.

FRED. C. PUTNAM

Captain

HEN, as Shakespeare says, "Good things of day begin to droop and drowse," it requires a cool-headed, capable man to direct the destinies of a police department of any large city, and the people of Kalamazoo are fortunate in having just such a man in the person of Captain Fred C. Putnam, who has charge of the police force during the night, at which time law-breakers and wrong-doers most frequently show their hands.

Captain Putnam is an efficient guardian of the peace, and his rapid promotion is due solely to the fact that he enforced the law as he interpreted it; was never severe, but always positive. If good advice would prevent an arrest, then good advice always won.

Mr. Putnam was born at Plainwell, Mich., September, 12, 1875, and came to Kalamazoo County with his parents when he was eight years old. He has, with the exception of two years, since resided in the county and city.

Captain Putnam is identified with several lodges and fraternal orders, among them being the Masonic Order and Knights of Pythias.

The Humphrey Gas Arc Lamp

is today the most economical as well as the most satisfactory in resulting illumination of any lighting unit in the field.

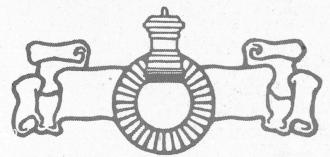

Whether you count the cost of the illuminant used, or the trouble and expense of up-keep, or the efficiency of those working under the light, the Humphrey Gas Arc will demonstrate its superiority if put to the actual test. Don't confound modern gas lighting by Humphrey Arcs with the old time methods: the Humphrey Arc represents as great an advance in gas lamps as the tungsten in electric lamps. It is a distinctly new and radical improvement in gas lighting.

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT ALAMAZOO PUBLIC LIBRARY KALAMAZOO MIGURIANA

For his heroic deed in risking his own life that he might save Howard Curtis, a 14 year old lad, by climbing through a net work of high power wires to the top of a 60 foot tower near the Gull Street bridge on April 17, 1912, Detective Roy W. Carney was awarded the beautiful Carnegie medal shown above, together with $1,000 in cash. Two other men who preceded Carney in an effort to climb to the rescue of the boy, who was being electrocuted, were instantly killed, but the detective, undaunted by these fatalities, cautiously picked his way to the top of the tower and succeeded in rescuing young Curtis, who succumbed later to the frightful burns he received.

Detective Roy W. Carney and Carnegie Medal Awarded Him for Bravery

We want the name of every woman who has pride in her kitchen and her cooking. We want to send her-direct from the factory-for free trial, a piece of our beautiful

KalumenWare

From Kalamazoo

Here is the final triumph of the worker in aluminum. Look at this beautiful skillet. Deep, strong and absolutely sanitary. No picture can give you an idea of the beauty and workmanship we put into every piece of Kalumen Ware. The finish is so lustrous and fine, and the shape and sturdiness so attractive, that we want this ware known to

We realize that even common aluminum ware—that cracks and warps—can be described in the same words as this Kalumen Ware—the finest. That's why we want to send you free, for a 30 day kitchen trial, any utensil we make. We want you to give it a real trial, to put it to tests no other ware will stand. Give it hard daily use. Abuse it, bang it around, overheat it. Do as you please with it. Then if you want to keep it, all right; if not, send it back at our expense. With each plece you get a written guarantee, backed by a bank bond, that it will not warp or crack. The Kalumen Ware Line is the finest that can be made. You are sure to be interested in some of the pieces. Write for book.

GOODALE COMPANY

Don't hesitate to take advantage of this We want this one fine piece of Kalumen Ware to come into your home as a missionary. We want your neighbors to see it. We want you to put it to hard daily use in

This ware comes straight to you from the factory. We have no middlemen or agents. We will save you big money on really fine ware. More than that —Kalumen Ware is backed by a

Five Year Guarantee—Cast in the Ware

No other maker of aluminum gives so liberal a guarantee. We not only cast ours right in the ware, but we give a written guarantee backed by a bank bond. You will understand why we can do this when you get a piece of this ware in your home for the Free Kitchen Trial.

Write at once for free catalog. It is sure to interest you intensely. Write today. A postcard will do.
