When you ask for HURFF Pork and Beans . . .

YOU GET BEANS WITH JERSEY
TOMATO SAUCE . . . the grandest sauce you ever tasted!

EVEN if you like Hurff Pork and Beans only a little better, it's well worth your while to ask for them—for the little things in life make a big difference.

But—we'd be willing to bet a basket of our rich, ripe, pedigreed Jersey tomatoes that you're going to like them a lot better of them than any beans you ever tasted.

and eat a lot more.

Boastful? We don't aim to be!

But being farm folk, we do know our beans and some of us have been working with finer fuller-flavored Jersey tomatoes for more years than we like to own up to.

Of course, the kind of tomatoes that make the sauce for Hurff Pork and Beans fit for a king (or a queen) don't just "grow on trees" as the saying is. Each summer seed tomatoes are examined and approved by inspectors of the New Jersey State Department of Agriculture. The seeds from these tomatoes are removed, cleaned, certified and sealed in bags under the direct supervision of these state officials. Hurff sells these seeds to the growers and buys back the tomatoes they produce, thereby maintaining uniformity of quality and flavor.

Do we hear you say—"And so what?"

So—ask your grocer for Hurff Pork and Beans with that grand Jersey tomato sauce and see what you've been missing!

"DANDRUFF HAD ME IN DESPAIR UNTIL..."

MY HAIR WAS DULL

Before I knew it I had a case of dandruff that simply defied relief. I had tried everything but my hair got duller and dryer. Jim, my husband, had a severe case also. I was wondering what to do next when into the room popped Florence Casey. Florence is one of those up-to-the-minute-on-everything girls. She's gone back to her old job of nursing, so her opinion counts on medical matters.

FLORENCE GAVE ME A TIP

"Dandruff," she chortled, "it's about time you stopped fussing with those old-fashioned remedies you are using. They aren't even antiseptic. Don't you know that doctors have found that a germ causes dandruff, and that Listerine is a simply marvelous treatment, because it kills the germ so quickly. You needn't worry about it bleaching your hair, either."

SHE WENT TO WORK

Without another word she strode into the bathroom and emerged with my Listerine. "Here goes for your first treatment," she laughed, and parted my hair—applying several droppers full of Listerine. Then she began a vigorous massage that lasted perhaps five minutes. "Exactly this same treatment got results for 76% of the dandruff patients in a New Jersey clinic," she said.

MY SCALP FELT WONDERFUL

"If this works for you as it has for others," Florence rattled on, "you will see results you simply didn't think possible. Listerine surrounds each hair, penetrates into the follicles and kills the germ that causes dandruff. It strikes at the cause—not merely the symptoms. And it soothes the scalp beautifully. But you must keep it up—dandruff cannot be cured overnight. That's important to remember."

IT WORKED FOR JIM, TOO

Well, I kept the Listerine treatment up once a day for nearly three weeks. I must say I never had a more delightful experience! My hair—my scalp began to feel so fresh, so healthy, so young. The itching and burning stopped amazingly soon. At the end of that time there wasn't a trace of dandruff. For Jim, Listerine got even quicker results. His barber, too, says it's wonderful.

HERE'S THE CAUSE

Pityrosporum ovale, which causes dandruff, is killed by the antiseptic, magnified many times.

When scientists discovered that the stubborn germ Pityrosporum ovale causes dandruff, the entire method of medication changed. For the first time dandruff was treated for what it really is—a germ disease.

The results obtained by Listerine Antiseptic in laboratories and clinics are nothing short of phenomenal. No other remedy that we know of can show such results backed by clinical proof. Rabbits with dandruff were treated on one side only, with Listerine Antiseptic, once or twice a day. At the end of fourteen days on the average there was no sign of dandruff on the sides thus treated. On the untreated sides dandruff was still in evidence.

In a mid-western skin clinic a substantial number of dandruff patients who massaged their scalps once a day with Listerine obtained marked relief in an average of two weeks. In many other cases scalps were found to be absolutely clear and free from dandruff in periods ranging from three to eight weeks.

In a New Jersey clinic, 76% of the patients who used Listerine twice a day showed either a complete disappearance of, or marked improvement in, symptoms of dandruff at the end of three weeks.

If you have any evidence of dandruff, start now with Listerine Antiseptic and massage at least once a day.

When Doctors "Feel Rotten" -This Is What They Do!

ARTIE MCGOVERN

for 8 years.

Today, at 41, is a model of physical perfection and energy and more active than the average college athlete.

HOW can many of New York's busiest physicians stand up under their grueling duties? Why are their nerves so steady, their minds so clear after nights of broken sleep and days of fatiguing work?

The answer is simple. They follow the rules for health described by Artie McGovern in his new book. Many not only go to McGovern's famous gymnasium in New York, but asked him to become Physical Director of the New York Physicians' Club!

These doctors are too wise to fall for work-outs that leave the "patient" gasping, dizzy, exhausted, the kind of exercise that does more harm than good. And not only doctors have benefited by McGovern's safe, sane methods. Among the nationally known people who have used them are: Grover Whalen, Walter Lippmann, Vincent Richards, Babe Ruth, Gene Sarazen, Rube Goldberg, Frank Sullivan, Paul Whiteman, Isaac Marcossow.

America's Greatest Trainer of Last Reveals His Secret of Keeping Fit!

In his new book Artie McGovern gives you "debunked" truth about exercise. He explodes popular fallacies. He shows you how to increase vigor, feel better, relieve constipation, and either lose weight or put on solid pounds—how to get more enjoyment out of life. Your particular problem (depending upon the type of person you are) is treated as such.

Here is a book of unvarnished truth about your body, your health, your living habits. It shows a safe way to control weight (the way doctors and athletes do); how to eliminate nervousness, sleeplessness; how to correct constipation without laxatives; how to tone up your entire system, and build reserve vitality to resist sickness. And all with simple, easy exercises you can do at home—without apparatus!

Are You Overweight—Run-Down —Constipated?

Do you feel run-down? Are your muscles flabby? Are you overweight or underweight? Do you take laxatives? Do you sleep poorly? Do you wake up tired? If your answer to one or more of these is "Yes," then you owe it to yourself and family to try the McGovern method.

GENE SARAZEN

Says:

"McGovern's Course of Health Building is the most effective, reliable exercise system I have ever experienced. In previous years I have tried various methods to keep in good trim, but none compare with yours for getting results."

"Your health-building program has been of untold value to me. I am thoroughly convinced of its positive, both professional and amateur, value. I am confident that it will prove a blessing for any average man or woman."

The exercise shown above (which may be done while you are lying in bed) is one of the best you can do! On the other hand, such exercise as handling over and twisting your feet with your hands are some of the WORST you can do—on a pair with iron rods and steel shafts. McGovern's book shows you how to keep fit WITHOUT such dragging or exhausting exercises!

Artie McGovern doesn't make you give up smoking, cocktails, juggle calories or vitamins. He has no pills, trick reducing salts, tonics or apparatus to sell you. His famous Method is based upon sound scientific principles; the result of 20 years' experience in planning physical culture programs for people in all walks of life. Thousands have paid up to $500 for the McGovern course—now so clearly described and illustrated in this great new book—"The Secret of Keeping Fit"—the very same Method relied upon by thousands of doctors and men important in public life.

Satisfied Scientist

I wish to express my genuine appreciation of the careful and discriminating manner in which you handled the editorial notice of our recent volume on Feeding Behavior in Infants (LIFE, July 30). I am pleased to find that the infant, when treated with editorial skill, seems to hold his own even though surrounded by such weighty matters as function and compensation, by brachyzoa, ramses, tarsars, and Mr. Rockefeller, by my notting of the breggic, by Charlie McCarthy. By giving the infant red spots in each copulation you have made an educational contribution of far reaching value. The selection and arrangement of the pictures were excellent.

Without attempting further analysis of your skill let me express again my satisfaction in the effective way with which you treated our material.

Photographer at Rabaul

Sir:
The following little side-light on the Rabaul eruption (LIFE, July 12) may interest you and F. A. Stoneback:

One of the passengers arriving from Australia aboard the S. N. Manureva at San Pedro on July 12 was Mr. Noel Innes. Learning from my niece (also a passenger) that Mr. Innes had spent the past six years in New Guinea, I thought it would be interesting to the pleasure afforded in the then current issue of LIFE. On showing this to him, he graciously mentioned that he had taken several of them.

Innes, a German first during the World War, has been employed by New Guinea Airways since 1932. In observing his position of the Rabaul eruption and subsequent danger, Innes made his fight with the New Guinea Administration, except by several days the evacuation of two new women who had to make the trip by plane from Australia.

Incidentally, I think LIFE exaggerates in estimating the loss of life at 400. The Administration was officially commended for having evacuated the entire native population to Kiriwina, 15 miles distant, at the first sign of danger. But one white man was killed, a photographer who climbed the volcano island volcano several days after the eruption and reached the crater's rim, only to have the crust give way under his feet.

Your prejudice is so intensely American even for a "Cricket," who

Style Piracy

Sir:

It is a fair assumption that LIFE which is achieving the position of an American institution would not conscientiously convey a highly erroneous impression. The impressions directly conveyed by your article on style piracy (LIFE, Aug. 9) are: (1) That all efforts to curb style piracy have been futile; (2) That the reproduction of designs at different price points constitutes piracy and could be prevented by an efficient style-protection machinery.

It is true as stated in your article, that the patenting of apparel designs has not proved effective but you omitted mention of the fact that tangible progress has been made, through voluntary co-operative action, in abating the piracy phase.

During the past five years, more than 200,000 original styles have been filed with the Registration Bureau of the Fashion Originators' Guild of America, Inc. The Guild comprises 130 manufacturers of ready-to-wear. Fourteen thousand retail stores collaborate with the Guild by declining to purchase copies of Guild members' originals. The effectiveness of the Guild's program is attested by the fact that the market life of an original in a retail store has been increased from two weeks to eight.

With regard to the reproduction of designs, it is doubtful if even the most comprehensive patent protection would include this. Those models are purchased by manufacturers in all price classes—and every purchaser has, obviously, equal rights to use the same. The appearance of a reproduced import at different price points cannot, therefore, be accepted as conclusive evidence of piracy. Very few French imports are reproduced in this country. They provide ideas for American designers but the models created by the French couturiers cannot, except in rare instances as in the case of Mrs. Wallis Warfield's wedding dress, be successfully made and marketed here.

Camp Prices

Sir:

For 10 years, I have annually advised hundreds of parents about camps for their children. No I appreciate the widespread publicity you gave camps in your Aug. 16 issue.

The choice of the Aloha Camp was a happy one, but Mrs. Guick should be designated as camp director instead of camp manager. Camp manager is used to designate the person in charge of incidents at a boy's camp.

Your statement that $200-$325 is the average fee at "a fashionable woodland retreat" is hardly correct. $200-$300 would be appropriate figures.

How a dozen men in the club got ATHLETE'S FOOT

Smith was a CARRIER*

SMITH didn't realize he was a victim of Athlete's Foot—spreading infection wherever he tread barefoot—and the skin between his toes got awfully raw.

Don't wait for serious trouble to develop before applying Absorbine Jr. If your feet have been exposed to damp surfaces—in the shower or locker room at the club, at the beach or swimming pool—examine the skin between your toes at once.

Red skin cells for Absorbine Jr.

Is the skin red, irritated? Does it itch? Prompt application of Absorbine Jr. cools and soothes, and may ward off painful soreness. For as the infection progresses, moist white skin may appear, peeling in patches, with skin cracks, rawness and pain; use Absorbine Jr. to soothe the soreness and help the tissues heal.

If your case gets really serious, consult a doctor in addition to using Absorbine Jr. morning and night. Buy a bottle today and insist on the genuine. It has been tested and proved for its ability to kill the fungus when reached, a fungus so stubborn that infected socks must be boiled 20 minutes to destroy it. Absorbine Jr. is recommended because it takes so little to bring relief. At your druggist's, $1.25 a bottle. For free sample, write W. F. Young, Inc., 342 Lyman St., Springfield, Mass.

*"CARRIER" is the medical term for a person who carries into town people infected with Athlete's Foot and "contaminates." And a large one half of all athlete's foot cases at Clubfoot's Foot is water, according to the U. S. Public Health Service. They spread disease wherever they tread barefoot.

DOES YOUR FOUNTAIN PEN OBJECT TO TRAVELING IN YOUR PURSE?

1 Watch out, lady!—If that's an ordinary fountain pen you're reaching for—be careful when you uncap it! Remember—you've been swinging that handle of yours around—and the ink is likely to have jumped from the pen barrel into the cap. If you had an Eversharp with the Safety Ink Shut-Off* that couldn't happen.

2 Good-by, Jane, I'll write!—And even after a spontaneous gesture like this—when you go to use that Eversharp pen in your handbag—the ink will still be in the barrel of the pen—where it belongs—not in the cap. That's what the Safety Ink Shut-Off does for you!

3 Opens and shuts like a faucet—Eversharp's Safety Ink Shut-Off is open while you're writing. The ink flows from barrel to point as in the "open" picture. But when you screw the cap on tightly, the Safety Ink Shut-Off closes the ink channel—"A"—sealing the ink in so it can't leak into the cap.

4 And here's a thought—Why not one for your husband? His pen gets bumped around too. If he occasionally sports to catch a train, or does a lot of traveling—by plane, motor, or bus—an Eversharp is the safest pen he can carry. And—he'd like an Eversharp pencil with it.

ADJUSTABLE POINT

SLIDE THIS UP OR DOWN

FITS THE POINT TO YOUR WRITING STYLE

5 The safest pen to give—As a gift, give an Eversharp pen with the adjustable point (slight additional cost). The person who receives it can adjust the point to suit his or her own stroke, pressure, and writing style. All Eversharp pens come in one-stroke vacuum or lever filler, and . . . they show when to refill! You'll find, too, that Eversharp's pens have greater ink capacity.

Gold Seal Eversharp, $7.50 and up—unconditionally guaranteed during the life of the owner except against loss, theft or willful damage, and subject only to a $1c servicing charge to cover handling cost, postage and insurance. "How can explosion touch me?"

He had never had an explosion in his home and he didn't expect one. But, he reckoned without his neighbors. An explosion nearly a block away dropped heavy chunks of masonry through his roof. Explosion Insurance would have covered his loss, for it applies to damage whether the explosion originates on or off the premises.

You wouldn't gamble that your home will never be damaged by fire. Considering the low cost of fire insurance, taking that chance is unthinkable. By the same token, why gamble that fire may be the only cause of financial loss? Explosion is a constant threat. No community is ever immune from windstorm. And, property-owners are often sued for injuries suffered on their premises.

Since a loss is a loss, no matter what the cause, it pays to have all-around insurance, the cost of which is surprisingly small. Just what policies should you have? Ask a North America Agent, or your broker, to advise you. Consult him as you would your doctor or lawyer.

MUNCIE LOOKS AT MANHATTAN

Last spring LIFE sent Margaret Bourke-White to Muncie, Ind. to photograph America's most typical small town, the "Middletown" made famous by Sociologists Robert and Helen Lynd. Her pictures of Muncie at home and at work (see LIFE, May 10) were acclaimed an important American document. In August, John Lewellen and his wife Wilma, of Muncie, came to New York. Knowing Mr. Lewellen to be an ace camera-reporter on the Muncie Evening Press, LIFE assigned him to photograph New York as it looks to a Midwesterner on his first visit.

So for a week John and Wilma Lewellen of Muncie aimed their Contax at Manhattan street corners, skyscrapers, parks and inns. Incidentally, they made their own shrewd observations about New York and New Yorkers. Their own words provide captions for the pictures on these pages. Times Square to the Lewellens was a sort of perpetual carnival—"the sort of thing Muncie can stand only one week a year." Mrs. Lewellen didn't think much of New York women's clothes. To both of them much that they saw was ridiculous. And here is their crowning insult to a "big hick town": "Muncie kids will have to come to New York to see what a horse looks like."

"Wall Street is around the corner from where this picture was taken on a busy day in the U.S. banking centre."

"Public getting is considered hick in Muncie. These such things are done in private. But in New York you see it everywhere, and nobody seems to mind. These three pictures record what seems to be an everyday occurrence in New York's Central Park. The scene took place within full view of one of the principal footpaths. The pictures were taken without the couple's knowledge until after the middle picture. Then the girl heard the shutter click and hid her face. Not that she seemed embarrassed. In fact, she began to laugh. Her escort, didn't even bother to stop."

JOHN LEWELLEN PHOTOGRAPHS ROCKEFELLER CENTER

Visitors from Mamma, John and Wilma Lewellen, spend an evening setting off flash bulbs to photograph the strange satires of New Yorkers at the Paradise night club.

And other, how people's eyebrows do go up—if there's the faintest hint of tattle-tale gray in your linens and things.

But why risk it? Why put up with half-clean clothes—when Fels-Naptha Soap makes it so easy to hurry out ALL the dirt.

That's because Fels-Naptha brings you two pappy cleaners instead of one. Its richer golden soap and lots of naptha loosen the grimest, deep-down dirt. When the wash is over, your clothes are so sweet and white it's a thrill to iron them.

You'll love the gentle way Fels-Naptha treats your hands, too. There's soothing glycerine in every golden bar.

Ask your grocer for Fels-Naptha today and try it! You'll have easier washes! Lovelier washes! And none of that pesky tattle-tale gray!

The big fellow helps us

HERE you see one of the most modern freight locomotives used by American railroads.

It develops 6,500 horsepower. It can haul freight 70 miles an hour. It can highball a string of loaded box cars more than a mile long.

That the railroads are using such mighty engines is a good thing for everyone.

Take shippers, for instance. Costs, and therefore rates, are directly affected by the number of cars which modern locomotives can pull. If trains were as short as they were thirty-six years ago it would add more than three quarters of a billion dollars to the annual freight cost, based on 1936 traffic.

Or take wages. The railroads' ability to meet present-day pay rolls depends on low cost operation—and the length of the modern freight trains largely determines such costs.

Or take safety. Longer trains reduce the chance of grade crossing accidents and collisions, because the more trains you have on a track, the more chance of accidents. As a federal court recently said, "The frequency of train and train-service accidents is directly related to the number of train units operated."

Everyone knows the great safety record of the railroads today. And during the period from 1923 to 1936, when the length and speed of trains showed a striking increase, the frequency of train accidents of all sorts decreased 58.5 per cent, and head-on and rear-end collisions decreased 64 per cent.

Here in plain terms is the great story of how the railroads keep abreast of the times.

American railroad rates are the lowest in the world;
American railroad wages the highest.

For that, give a good part of the credit to the "big fellow" and the long modern trains he pulls.

Since 1923, the railroads have spent more than eight billion dollars in improvements, much of it to provide more powerful locomotives, larger and stronger cars, strengthened track and bridge structures, and reduced grades and curves that make possible modern methods of railroad operation including the running of longer, heavier and faster trains.

Here's a book that tells a story of interest to agriculture, industry, commerce and the average American. For your copy, write Association of American Railroads, Transportation Building, Washington, D. C.

Pictured here is a famous engine of seventy years ago. When freight depended on such motive power, rates were three times as high and wages were only a fraction of what they are today.

DO YOU KNOW

—that freight trains now operate on practically the schedules of passenger trains only a few years ago—as average speeds between terminals as high as 43 miles an hour, including time occupied in intermediate terminals and switching?

—that during the past fifteen years the average revenue received by the railroads for hauling a ton of freight a mile has steadily declined until it is now less than one cent—a decrease of 23%?

—that since 1922 the payments by the railroads made necessary by loss of damage to freight have been reduced to less than half as much per loaded car moved?

—that railroads now make over-night delivery of freight between most large cities even 100 or 500 miles apart and that the spending for freight service saves business and industry, in storage facilities and the costs of maintaining inventories, millions of dollars every year?

THE HALLMARK OF HIGHER QUALITY

Today, everyone recognizes the advantages of Safety Glass. But, important as safety is, many car manufacturers, in their continuous effort to provide the utmost in quality and comfort, go even further and give you the added advantage of Safety Glass made of the finest polished PLATE Glass. This finer glass, painstakingly ground and polished, not only minimizes eyestrain and fatigue because of its greater clarity and freedom from waviness, but it actually adds to the beauty of your car. In fact, the mirror-like brilliance of Safety PLATE Glass gives a touch of distinction to today's smart motor car designs. To obtain maximum driving comfort and beauty, make certain that the car you buy has Safety PLATE Glass in every window. Look for the Safety PLATE Glass identifying mark—the Hallmark of Higher Quality. Many manufacturers now completely equip their cars with Safety PLATE Glass, at no extra cost to you. Summer Sun and Swimming can "Water-Wreck" your Hair!

THE SURF and sun are fine for your body—relaxing to your mind—a grand way to spend a summer day. Yet they are—as your reason will confirm—a definitely bad influence on the health of your hair.

For the water helps to strip your hair of the oils that Nature gave you—the blazing sun beats down on your unprotected hair—baking it dry and brittle. Naturally your hair can't stand this grueling punishment—it becomes dull and lifeless.

That's why your hair needs the help of Vitalis and the "60-Second Workout" to combat the deenergizing effects of sun and water. It's easy to enjoy the stimulating "60-Second Workout." Apply Vitalis briskly to your scalp. Feel the exhilarating tingle as circulation is roused. Your scalp feels awake—alive. And Vitalis' pure vegetable oils come to the rescue of your oil-depleted hair. 50 seconds to rub—10 seconds to comb and brush—and your hair has a healthy, handsome look.

With Vitalis every hair is firmly in place—just

THE NEW DEAL DISPENSES A NEW BRAND OF JUSTICE TO LABOR AND INDUSTRY

This is a picture of a courtroom scene, taken at New Cumberland, W. Va. Aug. 29, in the neat little ivy-covered Hancock County Court House (left). Except for the overcrowded jury box, and the startling C.I.O. sweaters worn by two of its back-row occupants, the spectacle could be duplicated at trials in ten thousand country courthouses throughout the land. But this is not a trial. The people in the jury box are not jurors. The white-haired gentleman sitting on the bench beneath the State seal and the picture of George Washington is not a judge.

What you see taking place here is a new and tremendously important phenomenon in American life. It is a National Labor Relations Board hearing. There is no jury; the occupants of the box are simply spectators. The man on the bench is a "trial examiner" appointed by NLRB. The brand of justice being dealt out has nothing to do with old-fashioned common law.

The case which the trial examiner is hearing is one as tough and as significant as any NLRB has tackled in its two years of existence. It involves charges by C.I.O. that Weirton Steel Co. of Weirton, W. Va., supports a company union, uses threats, beatings and firings to hinder the growth of a C.I.O. union, and thus violates the National Labor Relations (Wagner) Act. What makes the hearing so important is that Weirton Steel is run by Ernest Tener Weir, who happens to be among the most ruggedly individualistic employers in the country.

Mr. Weir does not propose to let the Government or John L. Lewis or anyone else tell him how to operate the business he has built up from the ground. When the New Deal last tried to make him do it, under NRA in 1934, Steelmaster Weir went to court and won a great victory.

In the National Labor Relations Board, however, tough Mr. Weir is up against a much tougher opponent than NRA's old National Labor Board. NLRB, to begin with, has much more authority and that authority has now been backed by the Supreme Court.

The way NLRB uses its authority has raised a passionate outcry among employers and their friends throughout the land. Often and bitterly the Board has been charged with being not only pro-Labor, but even pro-C.I.O. What most infuriates its critics is the way NLRB conducts its hearings. In effect, the employer is actually on trial. But in hearing evidence against him, most ordinary court rules are off. Any man with a grievance may take the witness chair and, under leading questions by NLRB attorneys, pour out his suspicions, his opinions, his fond of gossip and hearsay. For more of what an NLRB hearing looks like, turn the page.

WEIRTON STEELWORKERS HEAR THE CASE OF C.I.O. VS. THEIR BIG BOSS

THE NEW CUMBERLAND COURTHOUSE FLOOR AND BALCONY WERE PACKED WITH WEIRTON WORKERS. THE OUTCOME WILL DEEPLY AFFECT THEIR LIVES

WEIRTON'S COUNSEL CLYDE ARMSTRONG COMMENTS

ULRB ATTORNEY R. JOHN PORTER, 21, ALLAN REALS, 22

C.I.O. WORKERS, SOME IN SWEATERS, AND THEIR WIVES HEAR THE HEARING SETTER BY PRE-EMPTING THE JURY BOX

Most alarming sight at the Weirton hearing were blue sweaters with C.I.O. in big red letters on the front (bottom right), some with J. L. Lewis on the back (left). They suggested the jerseys once worn by Sir Oswald Mosley and his British fascists, but they turned out to be only the uniform of a Weirton C.I.O. softball league.

At first such sweaters, or shirts with C.I.O. buttons, predominated at the hearing, while some 5,000 members and friends of Weirton's company union and Security League contrasted themselves with rousing protest parade against C.I.O. and N.I.R.R. Soon however, many a company badge (see top left) appeared in the audience.

The faces you see here are typical steel-town faces. Weirton town (pop. 36,000) is polyglot, with Greek and Slavic blood up-urnist. What you do not see is Weirton's unique status as the largest unincorporated town in the world. Steelmaster Weir is not only Weir of Weirton; he virtually is Weirton. In the town which he began building on 250 acres of farmland 27 years ago, his company provides the water, gas, electricity, sewage disposal, streets and fire department. Law is upheld in the town by the county sheriff. Mr. Weir has donated a stadium to Weirton High School, built a community swimming pool (25¢ admission), a golf course (8100 initiation, $14 dues).

THE CASE OF C. I. O. VS. WEIRTON

In the first two days of the Weirton hearing, outraged company attorneys entered 166 objections to hits of opinion, suspicion and hearsay offered as evidence by C.I.O. witnesses. The trial examiner, Edward Grandison Smith (right), overruled 94 of the objections, declaring: "This is not a common-law trial. The 'rules of evidence' are not rigidly adhered to."

Utterly baffling and maddening to lawyers, the free-hand style in which an NLRB hearing is conducted puts grave responsibility on the trial examiner. His fairness and judgment alone replace the rules of evidence evolved in centuries of court experience.

When every man has had his say, the examiner decides what the material facts are, prepares an opinion on which the National Labor Relations Board (opposite page) in Washington makes its decision. The Board jails no guilty employer. It issues cease and desist orders, requires rehiring of unfairly discharged employees with back pay. If the employer rejects its decision, the Board passes its order on to a U. S. Circuit Court for enforcement. Thus far the Courts have sustained the Board 16 times, overruled it only twice.

The trial examiner at Weirton is Edward Grandison Smith, 69, a Clarkburg, W. Va. lawyer, and president since 1927 of West Virginia University's Board of Governors. A champion of the common man, Lawyer Smith would take no corporation cases as a young man, could get none later.

Theodore Schroyer is sworn in by Examiner Smith. Witness Schroyer said the head of Weirton Security League had offered him $10 a day plus expenses to join the "hatchet gang" which beat up C.I.O. organizers, that he had been beaten up himself after he refused.

Kenneth Koch, chief C.I.O. organizer in the Weirton district, tells how he was fired by Weirton Steel last year after eleven years of work, has been repeatedly followed and threatened. Knocked out with a blackjack last Oct. 16, he came to find a gang kicking and pouring him.

Casilda Barron, sister of a C.I.O. organizer, said she was beaten with Koch last October. First physical evidence to link any of the beatings with a Weirton employe was a pocketbook which Casilda Barron swore she saw drop from the pocket of one of the hatchet gang.

Patrick Toderan, president of the local Workers Alliance (medical reliever), tells how an intermediary from Weirton Steel's president offered him a job, a new car and $10 a day if he would stop organizing for C.I.O. Examiner Smith refused to make Toderan name the intermediary.

CHAIRMAN OF NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD IS J. WARREN MADDEN

DONALD WAKEFIELD SMITH IS THE BOARD'S YOUNGEST MEMBER

NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD IS LABOR'S FRIEND

But U. S. Circuit Courts have reversed it only twice in 18 appeals

Do the three members of the National Labor Relations Board, who appear at top and right, sympathize with Labor's side of the argument? The answer is an emphatic yes. Their job is to administer the Wagner Act, and the purpose of that Act is to help workers achieve independent unions and win genuine collective-bargaining agreements.

Board Chairman Joseph Warren Madden, 47, is a law teacher by profession but has done much public service as a mediator in labor disputes. Donald Wakefield Smith, 38, grew up around steel mills, became a Philadelphia lawyer specializing in labor cases. Edwin Seymour Smith, 43 and no kin to Donald, was formerly Massachusetts' Commissioner of Labor & Industries, then a member of the now defunct NRA Labor Relations Board.

Do employers get a square deal from NLRB? In 98.3% of the cases which have reached it for decision, the Board has found for Labor.

That startling fact cannot, however, be asayed without a knowledge of NLRB procedure. Under the Board are 21 regional directors scattered throughout the land. Theirs is the power to investigate every Labor case and decide whether it merits action. Of 5,052 cases, including complaints, disposed of by July 1, regional directors have dismissed 390 as baseless and 741 have been withdrawn.

Once a director accepts a complaint, he first tries to settle the matter by agreement. This settled have been 1,761 cases. The Board has averted or settled 829 strikes.

Only in stubborn cases, numbering one in ten, do matters reach the stage of a public hearing such as now proceeds in New Cumberland. And though the conduct of such hearings may seem haphazard and illegal to most lawyers, the entire record of the hearing will be reviewed by a U. S. Circuit Court if the employer desires. As previously noted, the Courts have reversed the Board only twice in 18 appeals.

In its conduct of employee elections to determine which faction shall have the right to speak for all in collective bargaining, no one has ever questioned the Board's absolute honesty and impartiality. Though it is pioneering new ground, often uncertainly, NLRB is indisputably the ablest agency yet created to settle U. S. labor disputes by law and reason instead of by clubs and tear gas.

LIFE ON THE AMERICAN NEWSFRONT: ASA LONG DEFENDS NATIONAL CHECKERS CHAMPIONSHIP

The National Checkers Tournament began on Aug. 23 in the little town of Martins Ferry, Ohio. Forty players sat at tables in the Eagles' Home, played in deadly seriousness. Many expected to lose as much as 4 B. in the tournament.

A slow game in this one between Dr. W. E. Thomas (in shirt sleeves) and John Bradford, both of Chicago. Some games took four hours to play.

World Champion Asa Long, of Toledo, defends the U. S. title which he has held, off and on, ever since he won it, as "the checker prodigy," at the age of 17.

MASSACHUSETTS REFUSES A PLAQUE IN MEMORY OF SACCO AND VANZETTI

A sore issue in Massachusetts was stirred up on Aug. 22 when the State was offered a bronze plaque commemorating Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, the radicals executed for murder in 1927. Sculptured by Gustavo Berglund, the plaque bears images of Vanzetti (left) and Sacco, with Vanzetti's words before he went to the electric chair:

WHAT I WISH MORE THAN ALL IN THIS LAST HOUR OF AGONY IS THAT OUR CASE AND OUR
FATE MAY BE UNDERSTOOD
NEITHER AS A REAL BOMB AND SERVE AS A TREMENDOUS LESSON TO
THE "FORCE'S" FREEDOM
SO THAT OUR SUFFERING AND DEATH
WILL NOT HAVE BEEN IN VAIN

Gov. Charles F. Herley, Democrat, called the offer "absurd," joined Republican predecessors in denying that Sacco, the shoemaker, and Vanzetti, the fish peddler, were "martyrs," unjustly executed.

AUTOMOBILE UNION VOTES $400,000 TO "GIVE HENRY FORD A LICKING"

Jubilant auto workers, 1,500 strong, cavorted and paraded in Milwaukee to celebrate the growth of United Automobile Workers from 30,000 to 400,000 in a year.

Delegates blew whistles, took sides in a factional fight among officers, intended to John L. Lewis. On Aug. 27, they voted an assessment of 81 per cent member for a "war chest" to organize the Ford Motor Co.

President Homer Martin was carried on his followers' shoulders. "Henry Ford deserves a licking," Martin told the convention, "and we're going to give it to him."

PENNSYLVANIA CAPTURES JOSEPH J. BRUNO, THE MURDEROUS POLITICAL BOSS

Pennsylvania's biggest manhunt" came to an end on Aug. 22 when detectives arrested Joseph J. Bruno, longtime Republican boss of Kolayres, Pa., on a New York street corner. Bruno was undisputed ruler of the little mining town until 1934, when his followers began deserting to the Democrats. On Nov. 5, election eve, the Democrats held a parade. As it reached "Bruno's Corner," a burst of machine-gun fire sprayed the marchers. Five were killed.

Bruno was arrested, sentenced to life imprisonment and lodged in the county jail. From there, on Dec. 18, 1936, he disappeared under highly suspicious circumstances. The warden had allowed him to visit a dentist and a guard assigned to watch him had left him while he parked his car. State police conducted the search which resulted in his capture.

Bruno before his flight looked like this. He was smooth-shaven, with thinning grey hair and horn-rimmed spectacles. He weighed about 135 pounds. This picture was made during Bruno's third trial for murder in 1934. Bruno remained stolid and expressionless throughout his three trials, resulting in three sentences of life imprisonment.

Bruno after his capture looked like this. He had changed his name to Frank Miller, grown a mustache, dyed his hair black. He wore different spectacles. By a special fattening diet he had put on 20 pounds, acquired a double chin. Despite the disguise, detectives recognized him standing outside the cheap rooming house where he was living.

Bruno was arrested at the door of his home on the morning after the five machine-gun murders. A justice of the peace, by announced in his window "I'm voting Republican."

Bruno escaped from this dentist's doorway in Potsville. The prison guard who accompanied him left him alone and unattended for several minutes while he parked his car.

Bruno's Corner was the scene of the election-eve murders and, four days later, the victims' funeral (above). Joseph Bruno's house stands on the corner (top center). The houses on the two other corners belong to Bruno's relatives, while the fourth corner is occupied by a church. Gunfire sprayed the marchers from all three of the Bruno houses.

LIFE ON THE AMERICAN NEWSFRONT: SEVEN SEAS RACES TO BERMUDA FOR DINNER

On Aug. 26, with all canvas set on her three masts, William S. Gubelmann's square-rigged ship Seven Seas sailed out of Newport on a 909-mile race to Bermuda. Her opponent in this first contest between privately-owned square-riggers in modern times was G. Huntington Hartford's Joseph Conrad (LIFE Feb. 1, 1937). Awaiting the winner was a cup put up in behalf of the New York Yacht Club. Also awaiting all hands on both ships was a dinner, complete with drinks, at Bermuda—the check to be paid by the owner of the losing boat.

Built in Stockholm in 1912 by the Swedish Government as a cadet training ship, Seven Seas was originally called Abraham Rydberg. In 1929 she was converted into a private yacht and in 1936 she was sold to Mr. Gubelmann (National Cash Register) who spent five months fitting her out. She is 168 ft. long, 325 tons, has a crew of 30, can make 18 knots. Her hull is of steel and she has an auxiliary engine. (The stack visible above really serves for ventilation as well as exhaust.) Mr. Gubelmann was not aboard during the race but his son Walter was.

LIFE ON THE AMERICAN NEWSFRONT: RIP COLLINS' BROKEN ANKLE ENDANGERS CUBS' LEAD

James ("Rip") Collins is the crack first baseman of the Chicago Cubs. On Aug. 10, while sliding for home plate in a game against the Pittsburgh Pirates, he broke his ankle. The pictures on this page show Baseboller Collins' accident and recuperation. He may or may not be back in the line-up before the season's end.

"Rip" Collins' injury was important in 1937 baseball because when it occurred the Cubs had been leading the National League by six games. Two weeks later the Cubs' lead had dropped to two games. Pressing closely behind them were the New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Whichever team wins the National League pennant will almost certainly face the New York Yankees in the World Series. Since May the Yankees have steadily increased their lead in the American League until on Aug. 26, it stood at 10½ games. Most experts consider them the best club either league has produced in the last few years and all agree that the Yankees' centre fielder, Joe Di Maggio, has been the season's outstanding player. Di Maggio's record of 37 home runs in 109 games is one better than Babe Ruth's record over the same stretch in his best season (1927). Ruth's all-season record of 60 homers is likely to stand, however, because a tonsil operation kept Di Maggio out of the early games, shortened his season.

Day before his accident Rip Collins visited Cook County jail in Chicago, jokingly sat in the electric chair. Some baseball players, notoriously superstitious, blamed his accident on this gag.

Sliding into home in the first inning, Collins saw that he could not make it, and tried to stop. His right leg twisted under him.

Withing in pain, he is stretched out on the field by his teammates. Collins suffered an incomplete fracture of the ankle.

He is carried from the field, hitting his forearm to offset the terrific pain of his broken, dangling leg.

In the hospital the next day, with his leg in a cast, Collins gets Dr. Rose Kewlich to autograph his bandages. His other doctor, P. S. Marcus, looks on.

Eleven days later on Aug. 21, Rip is feeling well enough to pitch horseshoes at a resort.

His crutch serves to paddle a canoe in Lake Canandaigua, upstate New York. His leg is still in a cast.

LILY PONS SINGS BEFORE RECORD-BREAKING CROWD OF 175,000 IN CHICAGO

The Pons coloratura voice as testified by Sator Alberti di Gorstings, later rewarded by 2% of her earnings.

When Lily Pons on July 31 sang in Chicago's Grant Park, an audience of 175,000 people formed the spectacle shown in the remarkable picture above. Because the park seats only 30,000, over 130,000 stood three hours while Miss Pons, a tiny figure beneath the stars, entranced the largest audience ever assembled in Chicago.

The Pons career began on Jan. 3, 1901 when, singing at Manhattan's Metropolitan Opera House for the first time, in Lurina di Lammermoor, Miss Pons received 16 curtain calls. Prior to that she had studied piano in Paris and, at 19, married a wealthy middle-aged Dutchman named August Meersitz. Mr. Meersitz, who had an ear, liked the way his wife sang while playing the piano. At his instigation she studied voice, to discover that she had absolute pitch and the most extraordinary vocal cords known to throat specialists since Caruso. Her Manhattan debut put her in top-flight operatic circles. Since then she has earned a fortune from her singing.

In 1933 she divorced her husband and for over a year now she has been reported engaged and rumored wed to Andre Kostelanetz, radio conductor who led the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra during her Chicago concert. Miss Pons was born 33 years ago in Cannes. Her accent is still French. She made her movie debut in I Dream of You in 1935. She has an apartment in New York and houses, complete with swimming pools, in Hollywood and Connecticut. Five feet two and weighing 160 lbs., she hates bread, fills up on potatoes. She once owned a pet jaguar. Her favorite number is 13 and her car license is LP 13.

Lilypons, Maryland was named after its lily ponds and after Lily Pons, here shown with Postmaster Thomas.

On Lilypons' lily pond Lily Pons, pulled by a local resident, picks some of the water flies which constitute the town's main business. Note the admiring crowd lining the shore. Miss Pons has all her Christmas cards mailed from Lilypons.

In Le Coq d'Or Miss Pons, contrary to custom, did the acting as well as the singing of the Princess's part last winter. Olin Downes said that her costume looked like a Follies skit.

No real swimmer is Lily Pons, here shown shivering on the edge of her Hollywood pool.

Andro Kestelonecz flew 100,000 mi. in 1936, mostly in romantic pursuit of Miss Pons.

At her Cosmopolitan home in Silver Mine, Lily Pons sleeps in this bed. She collects French Provincial furniture, plays at gaudiness, and rides horseback with enthusiasts and chic.

WINNERS IN OLD GOLD CARTOON CONTEST COLLECT $200,000

FIRST PRIZE: CADET WILLIAM R. STAGGS

The grand prize of $100,000 in the Old Gold contest was awarded on Aug. 25 to William Randolph Staggs, 25, a naval air cadet aboard the U.S.S. Ranger, stationed at San Diego, Calif. Staggs is a native of Valparaiso, Ind. After getting a B.S. in mechanical engineering from the University of Illinois, he enrolled as a cadet at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla. and was transferred to the Ranger last November. He cannot leave the Navy for at least two more years. "Anyway," said he, "I wouldn't leave the Navy for an amount of $100,000 checks." He will, however, buy an automobile and marry his sweetheart, Miss Grace Glasgow of Los Angeles. Federal taxes will consume about 83,000 of his prize money.

SECOND PRIZE: MISS FLORENCE ZIMMERMAN

The second prize of $50,000 in the Old Gold contest went to Miss Florence Zimmerman, 33, of Peoria, Ill. Puzzle-solving has been a hobby of Miss Zimmerman's ever since she graduated from the University of Wisconsin, became a registered pharmacist and went to work as manager of her father's drugstore. Since the Old Gold winners were finally picked on a basis of their money, Miss Zimmerman lays her success to her peculiarly favorable position for observing the "Increased Popularity of Old Gold." She plans to travel. "But my first ambition," said she, as she accepted a huge bouquet of red roses from the girls of the Peoria Altrens Club, "is to get this $50,000 check in the bank."

Dean of U. S. puzzle makers is F. Gregory Hartwick (seated, with his associates) who made up the Old Gold puzzles. Puzzleman Hartwick says: "We make three kinds of puzzles—tough; tougher and toughest!" The toughest ones always appear at the end of the contest.

The Puzzle Artists, Martin Nadle (left) and Jesse Jacobs, put Mr. Hartwick's ideas on paper. Each puzzle is a cartoon, accompanied by a list of names. The puzzler must pick out the name which is represented by the objects, action or dialog in the cartoon.

When P. Lorillard & Co., manufacturers of Old Gold cigarettes, announced a puzzle contest last winter, they could scarcely have known what a national phenomenon they were launching. Before the contest closed, the astonishing number of 2,000,000 people had sent in 90 answers apiece. The man who made the puzzles, F. Gregory Hartswick, estimates that the average entrant spent about 80 hours on the 90 puzzles. That makes a total of 160,000,000 man-hours. In return for all this effort Old Gold offered a grand prize of $100,000, and 600 other prizes totaling another $100,000.

As it turned out, the original 90 puzzles were little more than a qualifying round. Of the 2,000,000 entrants, 34,000 solved all the puzzles correctly. Each of these received a set of 90 tie-breaking cartoons which had to be solved in one week. This narrowed the field to 8,000. A second set of tie-breakers, however, merely reduced it to 8,160. At this point Old Gold gave up trying to stump the survivors and required each to write an essay on "The Increased Popularity of Old Golds in My Community as a Result of the Old Gold Contest." The winners, who were announced on Aug. 23, could thank their literary ability as much as their puzzling sense.

The contest cost Old Gold $2,000,000, mostly for running cartoons in newspapers. It was well worth it, for Old Gold sales jumped 70% over last year.

A puzzle chaser is Bessie Klein. It was her job and that of 17 other college girls to make sure that no puzzle could have two answers. Armed with dictionaries, atlases and reference books, Miss Klein puzzled over each "wrong" answer, trying to make it fit the cartoon. If she came close, that "wrong" answer was not used.

Shredding machines destroyed 90,000,000 Old Gold wrappers which were sent in, according to the rules, with the 8,000,000 sets of answers. The shreds sold for 85 a ton.

File supervisors are lectured in their duties by Miss Gertrude E. Condon, operations chief of the puzzle office. Old Gold hired 800 file clerks, with one supervisor for each eight girls. Below, some of the clerks work on one of the alphabetical sections of the file. When all the entries were in, the girls checked them for correctness.

Tipster sheets, giving the answers to the puzzles, were hawked on streets in the closing weeks of the contest. Old Gold says that some of the tipsters had all answers right.

French fashion artist at work

The red-headed gentleman seen through the arm of his model is Christian Bérard, perhaps the strangest of all the strange people recording Paris fashions for U. S. publications. A neo-romanticist who affects dirty finger-tails and sleazy clothes, he does colored sketches of fragile ladies for Vogue; witful people, and suits for himself.

REPORTING PARIS STYLES IS A BUSINESS

Vogue and Harper's Bazaar cover Openings

Four times a year the dressmakers of Paris hold costly style "Openings." The most important of these, during the first week in August, attracts buyers, stylists and fashion reporters from the entire occidental world. Admission is closely guarded. In top establishments, buyers attending must make purchases or else pay a $200-franc forfeit.

Competition among buyers is keen. But their rivalry is child's play compared with that which exists between the world's two leading fashion magazines, Vogue and Harper's Bazaar. To these, the Paris Openings are the year's supreme battle. Vogue's Paris staff, supplemented by top editors from New York, works in a mad frenzy to furnish New York with material for the Sept. 1 and 15 issues. The Bazaar's small Paris staff is swamped by recruits from New York.

Vogue has three editions: French, English and American; total circulation: 313,000. Harper's Bazaar prints an American and an English edition; total circulation: 305,000. Their combined circulations are negligible, yet their influence is inestimable. Key people in every branch of the 85,000,000 women's apparel industry read them religiously; their names are familiar to millions of women who never buy a copy.

For years humbly Vogue stood alone in the class field of fashion reporting. Its editor, Edna Woolman Chase, became the most important influence on American taste during the post-War period. In 1912, William Randolph Hearst bought Harper's Bazaar, decided to contest Vogue's monopoly. Not until 1932 when Tom White, a Hearst organization executive, induced his sister, Vogue trained Carmel White Snow, to join the Bazaar, did it offer Vogue serious competition.

Since the day when Carmel Snow, recovering in the hospital from her third aneurysm, told her friend and editor, Edna Woolman Chase, that she was deserting her Vogue post, rivalry between the two has been acute.

Edna Woolman Chase, keen editor in chief of all three Vogues, the most influential figure in the fashion-reporting world, Chevalier of the French Legion of Honor, stayed in New York during the Paris Opening. So did Vogue's Art Director Mohamed Felcky Agha, a brilliant, satirical, Russian-born Turk who once sold souzages, painted signs in Paris.

Vogue's editors, without waiting for proofs to dry, inspect photographs of models in clothes chosen the preceding day. Countess "Babe" Williams (left) divides her time between New York and Paris. The Duchess d'Ayen is fashion editor of the Paris office. The ultimate decision on which prints go to New York rests with Paris Editor Michel de Brunhoff (pipe in mouth).

Photographer Horsi, a young German, poses model in Molyneux's silky black velvet dress, "See Appeal," for Sept. 1 issue of Vogue. Dress was shown Aug. 8, photographed that night. Prints were mailed on Queen Mary, Aug. 8, arrived in New York office, Aug. 9. Rushed through art and engraving departments, they reached printer, Aug. 13, were on Editor Chase's desk, Aug. 18.

Right after the showing, Paper Artist Count Bouss-Willmann sketches Schiaparelli's two-piece dark blue suit, with bolinsky collar and pockets. Willmannes studied architecture, spent his spare time at the race-clubbing houses. His present wife saw the sketches, showed them to Michel de Brunhoff, who gave him a job. Both he and the Countess are expert trapshooters.

Carl Erickson, born in Juliet, Ill. of Swedish parents, is Vogue's ablest illustrator of elegant women in Paris. He is small, unpolished and ill at ease in salons. Yet his drawings are generally regarded as the quintessence of chic. Instinctively he chooses the perfect backgrounds for his accurate sketches. His special devotion is to his young daughter and his pocket Pez.

Berce Hayington-Huena, temperamental star photographer of Harper's Bazaar, works all night during the rush of Openings. Discovered by Vogue, he was lured away by Harper's Bazaar with a fat contract. Once, when bored, this Russian-born Frenchman (discovered from New York, turned up in Africa. His closest friend is Vogue's Photographer Hest) (see opposite), Carmel White Sonn, editor of Harper's Bazaar stands guard outside Huena's studio (see left). Quick-tempered herself, she passers her high-strung employees. She first worked in her mother's dressmaking shop. In 1902, Mrs. Chase of Vogue gave her a job. She stayed ten years, had three children, learned fashion editing thoroughly, then quit to edit the rival Harper's Bazaar.

Jean Cocteau, French poet, playwright, composer and scenarist, is studying a drawing for Harper's Bazaar. In his Paris hotel bedroom, Model Elisabeth Gibbons poses in Chanel's dress with polka-dot bodice. Around Cocteau fill Paris' leading griseuses and post-War erotites. A brilliant conversationalist, he annihilates conservative opponents with invective.

Jean Mural, one of the first photographers to take outdoor candid shots of mannequins wearing model gowns, is here snapped in a candid shot by himself, taking a candid shot for Harper's Bazaar. The model, Elisabeth Gibbons, wearing a Paton dress, is descending the steps of the Pont Alexandre III entrance to the Paris Exposition. Mrs. Ryan Jr. (see left) directs the scene.

Preparation for photographs includes checking dress tag to see if the model has on the right frock. Model at left is "Clou Clou" Hesly of New York who went to Paris to pose.

Prettiest Vogue editor, Mrs. Raymond Eves, woked until 6 a.m., was called from her bath at 8 to talk to New York office via transatlantic telephone (rate: $41 for 5 min.).

Max Ray, Philadelphian who gave up painting for photography, retouches a Harper's Bazaar picture of Alex's black evening dress with sequins at hem and outlining cape.

Goggling up on Lisa, Harper's Bazaar's chic model, are Editor Snow, Baron Hesse (in shirt) and assistant. Lisa has the quality of giving distinction to anything she wears.

A permanent wave is as important to a smart fashion editor as food. Here in Paris, Carmel Snow gets one from Guilbeaux, while she dictates a radio speech to her secretary.

Rayvaldo Laza, who has served longest on Harper's Bazaar's art staff, sketches a model dressed in Palau's habé-er-ack, gleaming satin evening gown. Laza is a Peruvian.

A model changes her shoes to ones more appropriate for the Leblang sun which she is wearing. Mrs. Allan Ryan Jr. of Harper's Bazaar helps. Scene is the Paris Exposition.

A new "Sex-Appeal" dress

As a favor to Mrs. Snow, Elinabeth Jemas (above), ex-model for Harper's Bazaar, is posing outside the Ritz Hotel in Paris in one of the new "Sex-Appeal" dresses with corseted, shirred bodice and tightly-swathed hips. Last year, Model Jemas was married to Harry Crocker, of the West Coast Hearst organization in Mr. Hearst's castle in Wales.

Reporting Paris styles for U. S. women

Vogue, appearing bimonthly, could, by rushing furiously, publish each year a complete report of the August Paris Openings in its Sept. 15 issue. Harper's Bazaar, a monthly, usually gives little or no news of the Openings to its readers until October 1. This year, for the first time, Harper's Bazaar announced it would publish a special issue on Sept. 15 to cover the Openings. Vogue's editors gasped. Editor Chase rallied her team. In her best patrician manner, she calmly told her staff they must better their own best record, get more complete coverage in the Sept. 1 issue.

Mrs. Ives brought the message to Paris. Pages of sketches and text were radiophotod and cabled from Paris. Damp prints of photographs were rushed to boat trains. In the Sept. 1 issue of Vogue, readers found 91 pages of news on the Openings. In the Sept. 15 issue will be complete coverage of the entire collection.

In the preceding six pages you have seen the frenzy which goes into producing a fashion magazine. At left is a sample from the Sept. 15 issue of Vogue.

Marcel McGinnis edits copy and captions before Vogue is finally put to press. She worked two years as fashion reporter on French Vogue, is small, quiet, pleasant but forceful.

Lydie Sherwood, three years out of St. Timothy's School, spends most of her hours at Vogue at a typewriter, composing captions. She is niece of Robert Sherwood, playwright.

Harper's Bazaar publishes a mid-month issue on Paris Openings

Since Harper's Bazaar keeps only a small staff in Paris, there is a general exodus of editors from New York to cover the August style shows. Chief of the Paris office is Mrs. Carl Erickson, wife of Vogue's artist, "Eric." Harper's Bazaar rarely attempts to report the Openings before October 1. This year, in a scrutable comparable to Vogue's reported on opposite page, it rushed eight pages of Openings' news into its Sept. 1 issue. The full story of the August shows will appear in its first mid-month issue, out Sept. 15. To the left is Alexey Brodovitch, art director, working on this issue. Below are two of the finished pages, as they will appear in the magazine.

A WIMBLEDON WINNER, DONALD BUDGE HEADS FOR FOREST HILLS CHAMPIONSHIP

The tousle-headed young man looking you in the eye (below) had much the same friendly expression at Wimbledon in the summer of 1937 when Queen Mary entered the royal box. As the spectators rose in silence, as his opponent Baron von Cramm bowed grave and low, Donald Budge informally waved his racket at the smiling Queen. The gesture though still typical was not repeated in 1936 or 1937, for three years in the best tennis circles have taught Budge much.

Because Budge is still an engaging youngster, and because this July at Wimbledon he accomplished the feat unique in terms of winning the singles, the doubles, and the mixed doubles, he will, win or lose, steal the show at the national tennis tournament at Forest Hills, Sept. 2-11.

The day Budge waved at Queen Mary, he lost a semifinal to Germany's von Cramm. Next year at Wimbledon, just turned 24, he reached the finals only to be put out by Fred Perry. His 1937 Wimbledon triumph over von Cramm, followed by his team play which won the U. S. the Davis Cup for the first time in ten years, put the lanky redheaded Californian at the top of the heap. Wielding the heaviest racket in the game (13½ oz.), Budge is now at the peak of his game.

The grip Budge uses today is the "mattress" grip (shown above). Budge learned this grip when he started to play but abandoned it to try others. His experiments weakened his forehand drive which became a second stroke only after Budge in 1935 returned to the eastern grip.

Unless all tennis signs fail, the stadium courts at Forest Hills, shown in color photographs at the right, will be the setting for a victorious climax to Donald Budge's greatest tennis year. What 1937 has so far proved is that no amateur player today can beat Budge. The Californian swept through the Wimbledon singles, losing only one set and pushing Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the world's second-best player, rudely off the court in the final in straight sets. Von Cramm, by playing better tennis than he ever before displayed, was able to force Budge to five sets in a crucial Davis Cup match but again Budge was victor. It is very possible that Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry, greatest professionals in the game, could beat Budge. But it is by no means certain.

Budge's tennis is good because it is well-rounded. The red-head has no one specialty on which he relies to win. He also has no weak points. There is no backhand in the world that can match Budge's, but there are serves that are as good and forehands that are better. Budge is not especially fast in getting around a tennis court but he does not have to be because he is a good strategist and is seldom caught out of position. His volleying, while sound and pointed, is not always spectacular because he prepares his openings well before moving up to net. Until this year, Budge did have a grave weakness: his forehand. Years of insane experimenting with grips retarded this stroke's development and not until this year's Wimbledon were critics ready to admit that the Budge forehand was worthy of his other strokes. Budge's game is built around power, closely controlled, thoughtfully directed and varied. Donald Budge is an exceedingly smart tennis player. His open, freckled face and bright teeth disguise one of the finest and subtlest tennis minds in play

1 On June 13, 1913, J. Donald Budge was born in this little house in Oakland, Calif. He was the youngest of three children.

2 His father, John Budge, here shown with Mrs. Budge, is proud of having driven a laundry truck over the same route, 59 years.

3 At 5, Donald wore these dandruff pumps. At school he was none too bright, managed to get through by the skin of his teeth.

4 At 7, Donald, with a cap over his red hair, was already admiring the tennis played by 15-year-old Brother Lloyd.

5 Brother Lloyd began to teach Donald how to play decent tennis when he was 8, with a sword-flick racket.

6 At 15, and again at 16, Donald won the California State Tournament held for boys under 18.

7 At 17, he made real tennis news by winning the National Junior title. But Brother Lloyd could still beat him.

8 Donald Budge's mother kisses him with pride and affection after tournaments but doesn't think him good-looking. Says she: "He may not be handsome, but he's a wonderful boy."

9 In 1935 in the Wimbledon semifinals Budge lost to Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, 4-6, 5-4, 6-3, 6-2.

10 Budge dances with Jeane Edger while Tennis Gene Mako starts the record. Crazy about swing music, Budge always carries a portable phonograph around with him.

11 Food of food, Budge eats hot dogs, ice cream and orangeade, even before tournament play.

12 In a white tie and tails at formal tennis lunquets Donald Budge is modest, self-possessed, well-liked socially.

13 On July 27, 1937, Budge beat England's Austin and Frankie Parker beat England's Haze, thus winning the Davis Cup. Here Princess Helma Victoria presents the Cup to U. S. Capt. Phil L. S. Budge, Mako, Parker, Great.

14 Modest in triumph, Budge brings the $5,000 silver cup home for the first time since 1927.

BEAUTY MEETS BRAWN IN NATIONALS

Poland's "Miss Yah-Yah" is new girl tennis star

On these pages you see some of the best women tennis players in the world, all of whom will compete for the national championship at Forest Hills this month. They are American, English—and Polish. Miss Jadwiga Jedrzejowska (below) of Warsaw came here last July for the first time and since then has made sensational tennis news. A player of great brawn, she beat 10-8, 6-1 Alice Marble (left), U. S. champion, at Wimbledon earlier this year and again in the Westchester (N.Y.) tournament. (Miss Marble beat her at Seabright, N.J.) According to the best tennis "deja" she may well win the Nationals.

Since the English players (see opposite page) were roundly defeated by the U. S. team in the Wightman Cup matches held Aug. 20-21, they are given little chance to win in the Nationals at Forest Hills.

Alice Marble, 24, won her national championship last year by beating Helen Jacobs. Her father was a California cattle rancher. Her tennis teacher is Eleanor Tennant, Hollywood's famed coach. She goes to bed early, sleeps lots, hopes to become a singer one of these days.

Jadwiga Jedrzejowska was born in Cracow 24 years ago. Without private means, she now works as a typist in Warsaw, walks miles to her job. She has been Poland's No. 1 female tennis player since 1928. She weighs 154 lb. and hits the ball almost as powerfully as a man.

"Miss Yah-Yah" is what Poland's Jadwiga Jedrzejowska is affectionately called in tennis because her name is so hard to pronounce. Her backhand is as terrific as her forehand but sometimes goes wild. She likes beefsteak for breakfast, speaks good English, is bright and clever.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fry, 85, of Boston, Mass. is one of the few U. S. girl players who does not wear shorts. Demurely pretty, she is rated No. 3 in this country. Her husband is a banker in Boston. She beat Marget Lamb (right) in the Wightman Cup matches.

Marget Lamb, another skirt-wearer, was born in Surrey, England 45 years ago. Her eyes are blue, her hair fair, her voice low and deliberate. She is the women squash respects champion of England, is not yet fully-rounded at tennis which she took up only two years ago.

Kay Stammers, 33, is the world's prettiest crock tennisist. This English girl enjoys munching lump sugar during her matches. During the Wightman Cup matches she spent much of her leisure time at the Atlantic Beach Club with Sir Wilton Wiseman of Kahn, Leeb & Co.

Evelyn Dearman of the English Wightman Cup team will be 39 next week. This summer she won the Canadian championship and with Joan Ingram quashed the doubles semifinals at Wimbledon. She is tall, well-built, reserved.

SCIENCE & INDUSTRY

CHASING METEORITES IS A CAREER

Millions of meteors enter the Earth's atmosphere yearly. All but an infinitesimal proportion burn themselves out by atmospheric friction before reaching ground. But whenever a meteorite does strike the Earth, the chances are that the world's most persistent star-dust chaser, Dr. Harvey Nininger of Denver, will discover it, buy it and sell it to a museum.

In a trailer, Dr. Nininger (wearing white hat), head of American Meteorite Laboratory, tours the country. Here he is describing meteorites to farmers, asking them to send him their finds.

Addie Dalg Nininger accompanies her husband on most meteorite-gathering field expeditions. She cooks, tends their trailer home, is also an expert meteorologist in her own name.

Harvey Harlow Nininger passes all his time hunting meteorites and lecturing on these rare witnesses from outer space. In 14 years he has located specimens of 77 showers.

A meteorite is recognized by a Nininger disciple. Farmers often mistake meteorites for stones, throw them aside.

Meteorites are very heavy. Dr. Nininger pays $1 a pound, thus giving farmers a nice profit for their discoveries.

Comets, which have disintegrated in space, cause most meteors. When these hit the Earth they are called meteorites.

(BY A FAMOUS ARCHITECT)

"The Easiest-to-Keep House in the World"

BUILT-A House Run Automatically by GAS!

THE MODERN GAS KITCHEN SAVES HOURS AND DOLLARS

The gas kitchen in our architect's home is completely automatic. The gas oven preheats in 10 minutes. Oven heat control assures exact temperature—clock control turns the heat on and off. New smokeless speed broiler cuts broiling time in half. Range top burners light automatically. THE AUTOMATIC GAS REFRIGERATOR has no moving parts to give trouble, is really silent, and operates at lowest cost.

THIS "easiest-to-keep" house was specifically planned to give maximum comfort with the least possible housekeeping effort.

The architect's first problem was to choose automatic, dependable equipment for the major jobs of cooking, refrigeration, water heating, house heating and air conditioning. Units had to be clean, noiseless and independent of uncertain fuel service. Easy to operate and trouble-free. Modern in design, and beautiful in appearance.

His selection of gas for these "four big jobs" was the result of his experience with all types of equipment. Modern, automatic gas appliances can make your home "easiest-to-keep." Stop in at your Gas Company or dealer and bear the news about them.

YOU'D NEVER KNOW IT WAS A FURNACE ROOM

This gas heating, air-conditioning and hot water plant needs no attention from one year's end to another! No fuel to order or store. No moving parts. Just year-round comfort—and incidentally, the quickest and lowest cost installation of any reliable automatic heat available.

Meteorites are made into museum pieces (continues)

No precious metal has ever been found in sufficient quantities in meteorites to give them commercial value. But because they tell a fragmentary story of the universe outside the stratosphere, they are of immense value to scientists. Only man who can satisfy the demand for meteorites is Dr. Nininger. At his American Meteorite Laboratory in Denver, he gathers the heavenly stones, cuts them into slabs, judiciously distributes them among museums and collectors. As a result of his work, scientists estimate that the age of meteorites ranges from 100,000,000 to 2,000,000,000 years. (The solar system is about 3,000,000,000 years old.)

Craters of the moon are said to have been formed by the collisions of giant meteorites with the planet in bygone ages.

An iron rod is used by Dr. Nininger to delve for meteorite fragments which are buried too deep for a plow to reach.

Cutting a slab from a hard, stony meteorite. Onto the slow-moving toothless steel band trickles a stream of water carrying a flux of carborundum powder. This very powerful abrasive is used by Dr. Nininger to do the actual cutting.

Polishing a meteorite on a buffer in the American Meteorite Laboratory. Meteoricists study structural composition on smooth surface.

Hundreds of letters from persons who believe they have found meteorites come to Frank Clay Cross who works with Dr. Nininger. Most writers are mistakes. Nevertheless, a few do discover valuable meteorite fragments.

Network of lines, known as Widmanstätten figure, shows when a meteorite is polished, etched with acids. They are the result of rapid crystallization.

Meteorites never killed anyone

Meteorites have devastated vast areas, killed thousands of animals, destroyed vegetation. Yet history records no man ever having been killed by a fireball. Dr. Niminger, however, predicts a human death from this cause will occur within a hundred years.

Fastest-falling meteorite is the one which, thousands of years ago, crashed into Arizona, formed Meteor Crater. It dug a hole 4,000 ft. in diameter, 600 ft. deep.

Largest fall in modern times hit Siberia in 1908, covered flat 700 square miles of forest, killed a herd of 1,500 reindeer. Its eruption was felt as far off as England.

Largest fragment of a meteorite on exhibit is this boulder at the American Museum of Natural History, New York City. It was found in Greenland, weighs over 37 tons.

MODERN MOTHERS FIND NEW NUCOA WHOLESOME...ECONOMICAL

New-type margarine is a delicious "thrift spread" for bread and ideal for all cooking. Nourishing! Always sweet and fresh!

Nucoa is high in food-energy. Every pound of Nucoa supplies 5400 food-energy calories . . . as many as the most expensive spread for bread. With milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables, Nucoa fits ideally into the balanced diet every child requires.

Nucoa tastes so good on bread! It is a pure vegetable margarine churned to delicious creaminess. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and accepted by The American Medical Association, Council on Foods.

The same creamy goodness you taste in Nucoa on bread makes it delightful for all your cooking, too. Nucoa seasons vegetables luxuriously . . . gives you light, tender, rich-flavored cakes and delicious sauces and confections.

It's money in your pocketbook—a big saving on every pound of Nucoa! This adds up, in a few weeks, to a real sum. "Nucoa is such a blessing!" mothers say. "It helps balance the family's diet and our budget, too!"

THE STRANGE CASE OF WINIFRED SACKVILLE STONER JR.

The child prodigy grew up to look like this when she was 36 and had been married twice. Today, Winifred Sackville Stoner Jr. is being sought to share an estate in Kent, England.

Baby Winifred sat up alone at three months and was able to hold her first doll, Martha.

An accomplished violinist at 10, Winifred had already written poems and three books.

A normal little girl, Winifred loved to dress in such costumes as Madama Butterfly.

Mother Stoner, surrounded by portraits of her wonder-child, conducted a campaign for natural education, founded the World League for Fostering Geniuses, maintained that her daughter was just a normal girl brought up "naturally."

Under Public Notices in the New York Times of Aug. 17 appeared this unobtrusive ad: ADDRESS OF WINIFRED SACKVILLE Stoner Jr., to settle English estate. E. H. Sackville, Washington, Pa.

Retentive readers remembered the name. Soon after the turn of the century, Winifred Sackville Stoner Jr. was often in the headlines. Doctors examined her, educators marveled at her, parents followed her amazing career.

Winifred Stoner was then a baby. She was born in 1906 with teeth, an early hint of precocity. At one, she could talk in polysyllables, scan the first ten lines of Virgil's Aeneid, recite Tennyson's Crossing the Bar. At three she was an expert typist, read English and French. It was about this time that Winifred's mother started her campaign for realism in child education. One day, after hearing Mother Goose rhymes, Winifred called her mother a "prevaricator" because she had learned from careful observation that a cow couldn't jump over the moon and a dog couldn't laugh. So, with the aid of (continued on page 54)

"5 O'clock Shadow"

START A WHISPERING CAMPAIGN

Let down a little in your personal appearance and it's just human nature for others to surmise that things aren't so good with you!

"5 O'clock Shadow"—that unsightly beard growth which appears prematurely at about 5 P.M., looks bad. There's no denying that! It's caused directly by using inefficient shaving instruments which merely "top" the beard. Note this well: A Gem Blade in a Gem Razor guarantees shadowless shaves which last to the end of the longest day!

For the Gem Micromatic Razor is scientifically right. Its built-in, face-fitting bevel hugs every facial contour; compels the long, smooth, gliding stroke of the master barber; shaves at the one correct angle, clean and close at the dermal line. All one piece, Gem is the world's easiest razor to use. Twist, it opens; twist, it closes.

The Gem Micromatic Blade is made of 50% thicker surgical steel and so can be given a deeper beveled edge. This edge is stropped 4840 separate times to incredible keenness. A keenness that lasts. You get cleaner shaves and far more of them to each blade.

Stay clean with Gem! One dollar buys a Gem Razor with 5 blades, handsomely cased, at all dealers. Or send coupon below and 25¢ for convincing "proof" offer.

At 5, Winifred was making Chaotianus speeches and touring Europe in behalf of Esperanto, "universal language of peace." (continued on page 50)

As a teacher, Winifred instructed the children of Mrs. Walter Hardesty, New Philadelphia, Ohio, to play chess, talk Esperanto and study nature from pet animals.

The typewriter was Winifred's companion from the age of two. Her mother believed that children should be expert at it even before they could write with a pencil.

Her pet bird, also taught by natural education, could jump rope, with its eyes.

She was taught acrobatics, could swim "almost as well as Annette Kellerman."

NEW MAKEUP KIT CONVINCES CAST OF "VIRGINIA"

LONDON WAS LUCKY to be first to hear lovely blue-eyed Anne Booth, of the silver-voiced leading lady of "Virginia." "And America is lucky," says Miss Booth, "in this simply priceless Marvelous Makeup. I've found nothing I like so well in England."

HOLLYWOOD honored glamorous Mona Barrie in the New York stage for a head part in "Virginia." "And Hollywood is mad about the new Eye-Matched Makeup," Miss Burrie reports, "I'm thrilled to find it in these little makeup kits."

The strange case of Winifred Stoner Jr.

Beautiful Winifred, at 37, had a case full of trophies for athletic skill. By this time she had written many books on history, education, women suffrage and animals.

At 7, she published her first book of Jingles. Sample: Two active kidsnap, a liver for bile, Folks with good livers always smile; Let's work our livers—make life worth-while, Smiling and smiling a big smile.

At 12, she could play five instruments, talk eight languages, swim, skate, box, fence, cook, paint, dance and play baseball. Five years ago she slipped from public view. News from England that she is now heir to $250,000 sent reporters in search of her.

As the Countess de Braché, Winifred discovered soon after her first marriage that her husband was a confidence man. She remarried on hearing, mistakenly, that he died.

Her third marriage to Earl Harrison, salesman, in Yuma, Ariz., lasted only a few months. Following a divorce in 1926, Winifred dropped out of the news until Aug., 1937.

I wonder WHAT'S WRONG with me?

So often the trouble can be traced directly to something you least suspect

HAVEN'T you often felt as this girl does? Nothing seriously wrong—but you "just don't feel right." Stomach upset. Out of sorts and jumpy. So tired out you can scarcely keep your eyes open.

Frequently, these are the symptoms of constipation... of accumulated intestinal wastes pulling down your energy, making you feel "sick all over!" And whenever this condition hits you, it's time to take a good laxative.

For more than 30 years, Ex-Lax has been America's favorite means of keeping "regular." More people use Ex-Lax than any other laxative in the whole wide world. It helps you to feel better and to look better. Ex-Lax is a definite aid in relieving that listless, run-down feeling often caused by constipation.

Ex-Lax works by the "gratle nudge" system

—a simple, easy method of giving you an effective cleaning out. Ex-Lax just gives your intestines a gratle nudge at the point where constipation exists. Its action is easy, comfortable—and thorough!

After taking Ex-Lax, you'll feel clean. You'll feel more alive. And you'll be grateful for the absence of the strain and anxiety that make the action of a harsh purgative so unpleasant.

Another thing—Ex-Lax tastes just like delicious chocolate. Children actually enjoy it, and it's just as good for them as it is for you. At all drug stores in 10c and 25c sizes.

FREE! If you prefer to try Ex-Lax at our expense, write for free sample to Ex-Lax, Department 2037, Box 170, Times Plaza Sta., Brooklyn, New York.

THIS GUIDE to the SELECTION and CARE of BLANKETS

This label is the mark of quality in men's, women's, and children's clothing, and in blankets, bathrobes, and bathroom rugs.

BEAUTY BEGINS WITH A KENWOOD

HERE is a book that will help bring blanket satisfaction and sleeping comfort into your home to stay. Every page is packed with just the information you want, to choose blankets perfectly suited to your needs and then keep them lovely for years to come. For example, it tells and shows you:

Correct blanket sizes for different types of beds; correct types for health and sleeping comfort; correct colors for your rooms.

Simple tests of quality you can make in the store—how to tell live new wool; how to test for strength of weave and lasting wear.

How to wash blankets to keep them always like new; how to put them away for summer; how to guard against moths.

This beautiful book, illustrated in full natural color, has been prepared by the Educational Department of Kenwood Mills, famous for quality wool products. It is free. To get your copy at once, simply send the coupon at right or a letter or postal.

are tipped with highest-grade polished Iridium for life-long wear.

Today there takes place at all good pen counters the curtain-raising on the king of all pens—the new Parker Speedline Vacuumatic, in three sizes.

A conquering pen is this, because it never starts anything for you that it cannot finish.

For example, it gives you continuous year-round mileage if you merely fill it 3 or 4 times from one birthday to the next. Eight or ten fleet seconds does the trick.

When held to the light its transparent laminations show the ink level at all times. Hence you can refill at any odd moment, so it won't run dry.

An utterly new and revolutionary self-filling principle, eliminating the old-time rubber ink sac and lever filler—using the space thus gained for additional ink—in the Maxima enough to write a 16,000-word novel with ink to spare. Even the slender Speedline Major holds 102% more ink than our famous Duofold.

A truly marvelous and patented invention within this shimmering Pearl and Jet Permalite barrel—a wholly original and exclusive style, now with restful Speedline shape, smartly laminated.

Not merely a 1938 style, but also a 1938 mechanism! The flow is automatically governed regardless of your writing speed. And every Parker Vacuumatic is GUARANTEED mechanically perfect, with no coddling asked or expected.

By all means see this new creation at once. Become the owner of a Speedline Vacuumatic. The curtain rises on this pedigreed Beauty today. Don't be late. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin.

We do business on the confidence of over forty thousand different neighborhoods

We Texaco Dealers have grown big in number by doing little things. Making small sales . . . frequently . . . to millions who come back.

We believe in the gasoline we sell.

We know that Texaco Fire-Chief gasoline has been skillfully developed as an emergency-duty gasoline to give our customers quick response. Engine alertness.

We know it is carefully made to compensate for changes of climate and season in different parts of the country. Quick-starting and quick-firing . . . anywhere.

We believe in it. It is the cornerstone of forty-five thousand small American businesses spread across the country . . . of which your local Texaco Dealer is one.

It is backed by the judgment, independently made, of every other Texaco Dealer.

We Texaco Dealers believe that each of us helps the other by serving his neighborhood well—and the people who pass through it.

Just try a Texaco Dealer next time.

Makers of Fire-Chief Gasoline, New Texaco Motor Oil, Havoline and Merlok. Also more than 350 Industrial Lubricants. . . More tourists use Fire-Chief than any other gasoline.

EVER TALK TO A FIRE-CHIEF ENTHUSIAST?

A survey among motorists was recently made by an independent research organization. It was noticeable that users of Fire-Chief were able to give definite and real reasons for their choice. Below are some of the things that were said about this gasoline to the interviewer:

"Our mileage is much better with Texaco and we have no trouble starting the car at all. On our trip to Troy, New York, we averaged about 16 miles per gallon. We used Texaco on the trip and it really seemed to give the car power. We had no trouble on the hills at all."

"Texaco is my standby. I have been using it for a very long time. It's very good on hills and seems to make the car pull better. The station attendants are pleasant and always seem glad to be of service."

"I always get a grin a mile wide from a Texaco Dealer whether I am buying gasoline, asking the direction, or just going through his station as a short cut. Texaco is dependable in all weather and in all kinds of cars."

A joker in Budapest, Hungary lately evolved the "smile school" shown on these pages. The idea was to counteract the bad publicity Budapest had gotten from the number of suicides supposedly inspired by the Budapest song, Gloomy Sunday. The suicide rate in Budapest is actually very high. Patrol boats are stationed day and night along the Danube, near the Budapest bridges, to rescue citizens who try to do away with themselves by drowning.

The smile school is a hoax backed by "Prof." Jenó and a hypnotist named Vízecs. They claim to charge up to $500 for teaching the Roosevelt smile in six weeks. The Mmsa Lisa smile is more difficult but cheaper. Jenó now has 45 students. He says better business is coaxing pupils to smile naturally.

WORLD'S LARGEST BUILDERS OF MOTOR BOATS

PEOPLE

The Cameras of the World Press now put these people in the news

RAYMOND MASSEY

One of England's leading character actors, he collapsed in Hollywood on the set of Samuel Goldwyn's Harrison and was hospitalized with plebitis (blood clot) of the leg. After three weeks in bed he began convalescing in a wheel chair between hospital and studio. Director John Ford changed Actor Massey's scenes so that he could appear seated.

COUNT & COUNTESS HAUGWITZ-REVENTLOW

The former Barbara Hutton, Woodworth 5-8-10 heiress, and her Danish husband are currently frolicking on the Lido at Venice, waiting for their new London mansion (LIFE, June 28) to be finished. Handsome Count Kurt stands on the deck of their motorboat, the Burbers, while chapeau Countess "Raha," in a satin bathing suit, climbs a ladder to the dock.

RUFUS WOODS (RIGHT) AND HEAD CLOWN

Mr. Woods is the little boy who wanted to be a circus clown but grew up to be publisher of the Wenatchee (Wash.) Daily World. When the Cole Bros.-Clyde Bentley Circus visited Seattle this year, Publisher Woods, 36, quit his regular work and joined it. For five days he followed it around Washington, getting on an act with Otto Grubling, head clown.

GLORIA STUART AND RAY PEARL

Young Mr. Pearl, who lives in Chicago, figured out the perfect tribute to his favorite movie star. He got his uncle to tattoo Gloria Stuart's face on his chest, hitchhiked to Hollywood where Miss Stuart is a featured player for Twentieth Century-Fox. Miss Stuart gladly stopped work in Life Begins at College to inspect Ray's decoration, say, "Oh, my gracious!"

THINK! OVER 50 MILLION GALLONS IN RESERVE

A VAST SEAGRAM TREASURE OF FINE BLENDING WHISKIES TO GUARD THAT FINER "CROWN" TASTE

Peacefully sleeping in charred oak casks...aging for years in the Seagram warehouses are millions of gallons of rare old blending whiskies. Rich... mild... smooth... mellow—whiskies of totally different character. Not until they reach peak maturity are they ready for blending in Seagram's Crowns.

But fine whiskies are not enough. It takes the touch of the master blender to combine these different types of whiskey into a blend as distinctive as the famous "Crown" blend. The moment you taste Seagram's 5 or 7 Crown—you'll understand why over 100,000,000 bottles* have been sold in 3 years.

Think before you drink—and say Seagram's—the finest of the finer blends.

THE ELDER FAMILY

Thirteen years ago a young Presbyterian missionary named John Elder took his bride to one of the remotest and least attractive posts in the Orient. At Hamadan, in the barren mountains of northern Iran, the Elders settled down to shepherd a flock of 8,000 Christian natives, raise a family. By this summer, when it came time for Mr. Elder's sabbatical leave, there were six children. Mr. Elder wrote to his church, the West Side Presbyterian of Ridgewood, N. J., asking it to locate "some tumble-down place on the outskirts of town," where the family might spend a year. Then the Elders started on a 6,000-mile journey.

Not until they reached New York on Aug. 94 did the Elders discover the effect their letter had had. Six beaming ladies met them on the dock, sped them to Ridgewood and ushered them into what the Press termed a "dream house." No tumble-down place, it was a fine house in the centre of town. As soon as the letter was received, the Women's Guild had set to work. The ladies had redecorated the house, built a nursery, donated furniture, stacked the kitchen. The delighted Elders posed in the living room. William, 11, and Miriam, 10, standing by a globe, while Louise, 3, sat in her mother's lap and the other three (Joseph, 7, Alice, 9, and David, 2) sat on the floor. "It's a fairyland come true," exclaimed Mrs. Elder.

RAE CERRUTI AND SANDRA BOFFA

Beautiful Robert Taylor, sailing for England on the Surrey, was pursued aboard ship by more than 1,000 female fans. Two of them hid under the Great Screen Lover's bed, caused a commotion when police dragged them out. After the incident photographers complained that it had happened too fast for them. Mr. Taylor's press agents produced two other girls, Misses Cerruti and Boffa, who willingly posed under a bed. The fact that it was not Taylor's bed made little difference.

"LITTLE ITALY" CLOAKS ITS HEALING SAINT IN DOLLARS

Of the 1,300,000 Italians who give New York City a larger Italian population than Rome, the greatest number live in "Little Italy" on the Lower East Side. On Aug. 16, Little Italy held one of its biggest and most colorful religious festivals—the Feast and Parade of St. Rocco. St. Rocco is the Healing Saint. Often, when a devout Italian falls ill, he prays to St. Rocco, promising to honor the Saint with money or waxen images if the illness is cured. On Feast Day the year's accumulated promises are made good. Worshipers pin currency to the Saint's statue and stout bearers carry it through the streets. Other worshipers follow with wax models of parts of the body which St. Rocco healed.

In past years the bills have been pinned to the statue at random. But last winter one of the parish women promised to "cover the Saint with money" if her sick daughter were cured. The daughter was cured and the mother was as good as her word. This year, St. Rocco started the parade with a neatly-pinned cloak of 81 bills. More dollars, collected along the parade route, brought the total to $300, which went to the mutual aid Society of St. Rocco.

St. Rocco's statue is covered with bills by the Italian mother and daughter who was cured. Note several 80 bills.

A cloak of money covers the statue. The woman in the picture at left contributed $100 herself, collected the rest.

Out of the church the statue is borne by devout parishioners. The honor of carrying the statue is eagerly sought.

Streets are festooned for the parade. These paper streamers, hanging over Oak Street, were made by schoolchildren.

The parade passes slowly, taking five hours to make the rounds of Little Italy. Many of the marchers carry candles.

Wax models, which thank the Saint for curing diseased members, are stacked in the church cellar. Many of the priests regard such offerings as superfluous but do not forbid them.

Shelves of images are offered for sale. A head of wax gives thanks to the Saint for curing such troubles as headaches. A wax baby thanks him for restoring a child to health.

"LITTLE ITALY" HONORS ST. ROCCO

In her First Day best, a saint's mother joins the parade of St. Rocco. She carries an image of vast to express her gratitude to the Saint for curing some illness of the head and a 81 bell which she will attach to the Saint's statue.

In the church, before the parade, worshippers attend a service to honor the Healing Saint. The woman in the foreground carries a child to thank the Saint for making her child well. The woman in the pew behind her has bought a big candle.

A grateful mother pushes her son in the parade. The two wax legs in the carriage are intended to thank St. Rocco for relieving the child's lameness during the past year. They may also influence him to complete the cure in the coming year.

JOE DAY AGAIN SELLS REAL ESTATE

Superauctioneer performs for Westchester banks

On Aug. 31, at New Rochelle, N. Y., some 1,300 persons attended an auction. Few of them wanted to buy any of the 23 parcels of real estate belonging to Westchester County banks which failed in 1933. What the crowd came to see was the auctioneer, Mr. Joseph P. Day (also) who was back on the stand for the first time in several years.

Joseph P. Day is the greatest real-estate salesman of all time. He has sold $1,250,000,000 worth of property, including one-third of all the land in The Bronx, one-third of Queens and huge chunks of the other New York City boroughs. No other auctioneer ever had so compelling a manner. In his prime, Day would stand before the auction block with a carnation in his button-hole, flailing his arms, roaring, cajoling and joking his audience into a state of hypnosis. On one memorable day he sold 147 lots for over $3,000,000. His assistants had to pad the auction block lest he break his hand in thumping out the sales.

When the real-estate market collapsed in 1929, Day's heyday ended. He is still a multimillionaire, happy in the thought that he has founded a great American fortune which, because it is tied up in real estate, will keep on growing long after he dies.

Mr. Day performed in the armory at New Rochelle, N. Y. before a shirt-sleeved crowd. Neither the auctioneer nor the bidding was so spirited as in the old days. Receivers for the banks netted only $266,539 on an assessed value of $698,973.

“I’D RATHER BE YOUR WIFE
THAN YOUR WIDOW—
PLEASE PUT THIS BLOW-OUT PROTECTION ON OUR CAR”

WHETHER you're married or single—whether or not you've ever had a blow-out, don't blind yourself to these facts:

Thousands of motorists are killed or injured—thousands of dollars are spent for repairs, doctor and hospital bills every year when blow-outs throw cars out of control. Every day somewhere, someone is headed for a costly or fatal blow-out accident.

Many of these blow-outs that you hear and read about are due to the heat generated inside of all tires by today's higher driving speeds. This terrific internal tire heat may cause rubber and fabric to separate. And, if it does, an invisible blister forms. Bigger and BIGGER it grows until, sooner or later, BANG! It's a blow-out! And where your car might land—nobody knows.

To provide you, and everyone who rides with you, with real blow-out protection, every new Goodrich Silvertown Tire is built with the Life-Saver Golden Ply. This Goodrich invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. By resisting this heat, the Golden Ply gives you real protection against these high-speed blow-outs.

Remember, no tire gives you Golden Ply blow-out protection unless it is a Goodrich Safety Silvertown. And don't forget this life-saving tire actually costs much less than other super-quality tires.

Thousands of motorists all over America have found that Silvertowns below mean safety above. For your own peace of mind, for the protection of your family and friends stop at any Goodrich Silvertown Store or Goodrich Dealer for a set of these long-mileage, life-saving tires. It's better to be safe than sorry!

DEANNA DURBIN SINGS FOR THE SOUND TRACK WITHOUT BENEFIT OF CAMERA. LATER HER VOICE WILL BE DUBBED INTO THE SCENE BELOW

MOVIE OF THE WEEK:

100 Men and a Girl

One Hundred Men and a Girl is the first starring vehicle of 14-year-old Deanna Durbin. As the daughter of an unemployed trombonist, she sets out to find her father a job. Before she is through she has organized a symphony orchestra (the 100 men), found a sponsor and persuaded Leopold Stokowski (who appears under his own name) to conduct. Thanks to skilful direction, to Stokowski and his Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and, most of all, to Miss Durbin's voice and charm, it is one of the year's best pictures.

Deanna Durbin is Hollywood's latest wonder-child. Her feats in the movie are actually surpassed by what she has done for her company in real life. When Universal Pictures Corp. was bought last year by a group of New York bankers, the company was on the verge of bankruptcy. It had no prestige, no stars, no apparent future. Then Deanna turned up. For six months she had been under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer whose expensive battery of producers saw no possibilities in her. Universal put Deanna into a "B" picture called Three Smart Girls. Not only did Three Smart Girls become a top-flight "A" picture but it ran up an impressive box-office record and started Universal Pictures on the road to financial and artistic success.

For screen purposes, Deanna Durbin's clear, mature soprano voice is at least the equal of any in Hollywood. The pictures on this page show how one of her singing scenes is made. First the scene is filmed by a silent camera, Deanna taking care to look her prettiest. Later in private, she sings again with whatever facial contortions her art requires. Her voice is "mixed" with the orchestra's sound track and the whole is dubbed into the silent scene.

DEANNA SINGS FOR THE CAMERA WITH STOKOWSKI AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Deanna Durbin climbs to fame

She was born in Winnipeg, Canada, christened Edna Mae Durbin. At 13, she was discovered by the radio (Eddie Cantor) and the movies. At 14, though she looks and acts no more than her age, she has fullymatured vocal cords. In addition she has what most singing stars notably lack—a captivating screen personality. These combined assets may well ensure her both an operatic career and top-rank stardom in the movies.

Deanna surveys her schedule for a week when she is supposedly not working. Note appointments for LIFE (Monday) and MARCH OF TIME (Friday). Top, she rides a studio bicycle.

In her producer's pool, Deanna pursues her favorite sport as often and as long as she is allowed. Producer Joseph Pasternak has become a close friend of Deanna and her parents.

A new dress for Deanna is fitted by Lorna Whittingham. The dressmaker's form which represents Deanna must be changed frequently, as she grows $3\frac{1}{4}$ inches between pictures.

She learns to act by watching Director Henry Koster. "Like this," says Koster at left. Deanna tries it. "That's it," says Koster, who has taught her all the acting she knows.

These two men share honors with Deanna for the success of her two pictures. They are Director Henry Koster (left), a German, and Producer Joseph Pasternak, a Hungarian.

Mt. Stalin is Russia's highest

Russia's Dictator Joseph Stalin has named for himself the highest mountain in the U. S. S. R.—the glacier-beset Mt. Stalin. It is in Tajikistan, one of the five Russian administrative units in the mountain wilderness bordering Afghanistan and China. Russians discovered Mt. Stalin in 1951, climbed it for the first time a year later.

A RUSSIAN PLANE FROM STALINABAD, FLYING DOWN THE VALLEY OF VAKH-R RIVER, TURNS INTO PANDJ RIVER VALLEY ON THE WAY TO KHOROG

SIX MOUNTAIN PEAKS ON THE WORLD'S ROOF ARE RUSSIAN COMMISSARS

Where Asiatic Russia bulges against China, India and Afghanistan lies part of the world's largest, highest and most inaccessible mountain mass, effectually fencing the four nations' back yards. Deep in the middle of this mass is Tajikistan and the Pamir Mountains, "Roof of the World."

The people on the world's roof are the "spindrift" of 3,000 years of marching armies. Subjugated 73 years ago by the Russian Tsar, they now like Communist agents from Moscow little better. But Soviet Russia is doing a great job of industrializing the five mountain republics of Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, Kirghizia, Turkmenistan and Kazakhstan.

Part of the job is to map the mountains shown on these pages and to name them for Moscow's Soviet big game. But Stalin has left the name of another Russian dictator—Tsar Peter the Great—on an area where there are peaks enough for all.

Tajikistan, which had never seen a wheel until the Communists came, is now getting Soviet air-lines, roads, factories, mines and farms. When Moscow tried to collectivize the Tajiks' herds, the Tajiks drove their herds into Afghanistan or slaughtered them. Herd-collectivization has since been dropped but since the expulsion of Tajikistan's beloved Premier Khandjiev in 1934 for "Bourgeois-Nationalist deviation," the Tajiks have been making trouble.

Mt. Molotov ... was named in 1932 for Soviet Russia's chairman of the Council of Commissars (actually Premier), Vyacheslav Mikhailovich Molotov who, despite his imposing title, is merely a pop-pet of Dictator Stalin. He is noted for his plodding, stammering three-hour speeches, but his mountain peak is one of the highest (21,000 ft.) of the whole Tajikistan range. A veteran of pre-Revolutionary days and Tsarist jails, loyal Molotov has always been a follower of Stalin and once, in 1931, held the key job of secretary of the Communist Party's Central Committee. That job Stalin later got and developed to dominate the party and the nation.

Mt. Voroshilov ... was named in 1934 for Soviet Russia's Commissar for Defense, Marshal Klimentiy E. ("Kliment") Voroshilov, longtime commander in chief of the Red Army (see right). Last June his record-in-command, Marshal Tukhachevsky, was executed for treason.

Mt. Red Army ... celebrates the world's highest standing army. It now has an estimated 1,500,000 men in active service, 2,250,000 more in the trained reserves, 5,000 planes, 1,500 tanks and armored cars. In eastern Siberia is a unit of 250,000 men. The Army is by far the most pampered class in Russia. Its officers are said to rival the Tsar's officers in arrogant foppishness.

... was named for Russia's Commissar for Transportation Leon
Mt. Kaganovich Misesvich Kaganovich, able Jewish trouble shooter and Stalin's

U. S. BY TRANSPACIFIC PLANE

These first pictures of what happened when 1,000-lb. air bombs hit Shanghai, the world's sixth-largest city, reached the U. S. by Pan American's Hawaii Clipper. Shanghai photographers were notably on the job, Aug. 14, when the first Chinese planes went into action against Japan appeared over the city. The picture at left was taken that morning when three planes dived on the Japanese flagship, Idzumi, and dropped three poorly-aimed bombs. To the left of the Idzumi are the Japanese and U. S. Consulates. The planes have zoomed out of the picture. The area being bombed, technically in Shanghai's International Settlement, is the Japanese eastern half. The Associated Press photographer took his picture from across the river in Chinese Pootung.

Later that day three Chinese planes bumbled over Shanghai. Shortly before, LIFE's photographer, Harrison Forman, had taken the picture (right) of the side entrance of the swank Cathay Hotel at the intersection of the riverside Bund and Nanking Road. At 4:27 p.m., a bomb, supposedly shaken loose by anti-aircraft fire, dropped from one of the Chinese planes and made the scene outside the Cathay Hotel look like that shown below. Barely a minute later an Associated Press photographer was on the spot. At 4:40 p.m., the same day, another bomb dropped from another Chinese plane, landed full on the Chinese refugees jampacking the Great World Amusement Park on the edge of the International Settlement. Here U. S. Missionary Rawlinson was killed by still another bomb (LIFE, Aug. 20). Two minutes later, another Associated Press photographer was on the spot, took the picture at bottom of opposite page, showing some of the 300 Chinese corpses, still warm.

The Cathay Hotel is one of the most expensive in Shanghai. It is owned by the ablest business-man of the great English house of Sassoon, Ellice Victor, who transferred his great wealth to Shanghai in 1927 after English success and uncertain rates. He added a dozen towers to the already magnificent skyline of international Shanghai. His pet enterprise was the Cathay Hotel in whose night-club cheered Therese Rudolph, the Chicago cabaret girl shown in LIFE, Aug. 26. A few days before Aug. 14, LIFE's photographer took the above picture of the Nanking Road entrance to the Cathay, as a guest got out of his car and a fiercest delivery cart pulled up. The building opposite is occupied by a popular Shanghai pharmacy whose sign may be seen at the far corner (shown below, inset). In the far background are the narrow spires of the Sincere Wing On Store, bombed Aug. 23. At 4:27 p.m., Aug. 14, a bomb turned this spot into the scene shown below, where the charred body of a dead Chinese is being lifted out of the debris.

War planes also drop Death on North China

Death sprayed from the air on the Chinese not only in Shanghai, as shown at left and on preceding pages, but in North China, as shown above and on the opposite page. In Shanghai the damage was done deliberately by light Japanese shells, which is relatively ineffective, and accidentally by Chinese air bombs which are immensely destructive. In North China, Japan used modern war's latest tactic—strafing ground troops by airplane machine guns, which is relatively cheap and highly effective.

The Chinese troops were units of the irregular 20th Army. On July 28, they fell back to Nanyuan, due south of Peiping. Japanese planes caught them on the road and machine-gunned them as they dived under their trucks and into the rain-filled ditches. The Japanese captured Nanyuan on July 29. Next day the pictures on the opposite page were taken for LIFE by German Photographer Walter Bosshard, driving along the death road from Nanyuan to Peiping, picking up wounded as he went.

CHINESE CHILDREN LIE DEAD IN A SHANGHAI GUTTER

Chinese soldiers tried to get under their truck when the Japanese strafing planes dived on them on the road to Nanyuan. Most of them were mowed down in their trucks by machine-gunning.

Chinese peasants held their noses as they passed hares, two days dead, on the road to Nanyuan. The ruthless peasants refused to help their own wounded sprawled along this road.

THE CAMERA OVERSEAS: CHINESE LIE DOWN AND PEIPING SURRENDERS TO JAPANESE

The fiercest Chinese defense against invasion was at Peiping, China's ancient capital near which the war started. General Sung Uih-yuan's troops (below), no match for the Japanese, were decimated outside the city.

On July 28, Japanese pamphlets were dropped by plane, saying "Beloved friends, we will annihilate you unless you surrender." On July 30, General Sung vanished southward. A pro-Japanese administration was promptly set up by the Japanese. Theoretically this was what Japan wanted when the shooting started and the war should have stopped there. But, reinforced by regular Chinese Army troops, the 20th Army returned to battle. Not until Aug. 8 did the Japanese Army decide to take formal possession of Peiping.

Chinese defenders of Peiping sapped in exhaustion July 30 after repelling an all-night assault of the Kwang-an Gate by 300 Japanese. Fighting started after one of these soldiers dropped a grenade into a Japanese Embassy trackload of guards entering Kwang-an Gate.

A German car, flying the Nazi swastika, picked up this wounded Chinese soldier on the Nanyuan Road south of Peiping and brought him back to the Peiping Legation Quarter for hospitalization. There are three more wounded in the trunk box in the rear of the car.

Japan formally took over Peiping Aug. 8, marching in 5,000 troops, in full war equipment, accompanied by ten heavy and light tanks, 30 armored cars. Crowds, led by the Japanese and Korean population, waved little Japanese flags. Tanks wore camouflaged coverings.

Japanese conquerors, carrying the Japanese Rising Sun flag, climbed the stone stairway of the Yang Ting Gate to Peiping Aug. 8, ten days after the ancient city had been effectively surrendered to the Japanese by its Chinese leaders who simply vanished southward.

Staff officers of the Japanese conquerors entering Peiping Aug. 8 were photographed for LIFE by Walter Bosshard from the floor of the Italian Embassy whither he had fled from wounded Japanese soldiers. Notice the camouflaged coverings, a part of war Japanese here.

For safety's sake, remember:
THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A BLOWOUT-PROOF TIRE!

"I THOUGHT MY TIME HAD COME!"

YOU may not get another chance when a blowout shoots your car careening off the road—what happens then is just pure luck. So why take chances—when Goodyear's amazing LifeGuard® Tube enables you to ride through the worst blowout with your car under perfect control!

Makes blowouts harmless

This amazing tube does not prevent blowouts — but it does make them at harmless as a slow leak. Your tire may burst from bead to bead, yet the Life-Guard Tube's patented "inner tire" (see diagram) retains enough air to hold up your casing. You hear the warning "Bang!" — but there is no sudden swerve, no unexpected lurch toward the ditch or cross traffic. Even a slip of a girl can hold the heaviest car on the road and slow down to a safe, easy, straight-ahead stop.

And when you stop you'll still find air in the LifeGuard Tube—enough to keep the casing on the wheel and support the car until you can change tires in a safe convenient spot.

Has saved hundreds

LifeGuard-equipped tires have been blown open with dynamite caps, ripped with railroad spikes in thousands of tests. Yet even these extreme blowouts have never thrown a car out of control. In everyday use LifeGuards have saved the lives of hundreds; prevented untold accidents that might have been fatal.

Remember, there is no such thing as a blowout-proof tire. Your only sure protection against this constant peril is the Life-Guard Tube. See it today at your Goodyear dealer's or Goodyear Service Score — tomorrow may be too late. You can't buy better protection to save your life!

GOOD YEAR
LifeGuard Tubes

TAKE THE TERROR OUT OF BLOWOUTS

This remarkable safety tube consists of a reserve two-ply inner tire inside the regular tire, both inflated by the same valve. When the casing blows out only the outer tube lets go. The inner tire holds enough air to support the car without jerching until you can come to a safe stop.

FOR PASSENGER CARS TRUCKS • BUSES

"While driving in a heavy car with my family and near two pounds of luggage the left rear tire blew out as we were passing another car," writes Mrs. F. L. DeHaven of Hamford, California. "The car didn't swerve an inch although it was a gravel road... I heard down... thump... and found a hole blown completely across the tread and 12 inches along the bead. But the LifeGuard Tube still held air and there was no sign of a bulge through the tire casing... It saved us from the ditch..."

Foreigners take refuge in Peiping's Legations

Sandbag barricades early appeared at important street intersections in the Chinese city of Peiping, manned by irregular soldiers of the Chinese 29th Army. Patrolling foreigners in Peiping were slow to take the Japanese "war" seriously.

A risky rescue of Cornell University's Professor Paul Homan (center) and his wife (right) was staged by the U. S. Embassy's first secretary, George Merrill (in straw hat), who moved them on July 28 from north Peiping to the Legation Quarter.

The Homans' rescue, one of many such, brought them to the barricade in Hai Anan Street near the Legation Quarter. Clinging to it are Mrs. Homan, Professor Homan, Secretary Merrill. Homan now carries the same suitcase shown in center picture.

TO FIT YOU!

Behind the scenes in the Real Silk Hosiery Mills, at Indianapolis—a great hosiery "caper" where hundreds of mannequin legs hourly are constantly being made to fit an entire nation of individual owners.

DEAR READER—This is not the way anyone measures for Real Silk Personal Fit Hosiery.

It is a very flawless representation, however, of a hosiery sound principle.

For years you have ordered hosiery only by feetize.

Now Real Silk has changed the hosiery habits of the nation by furnishing hosiery in a tremendous variety of leg proportions as well.

Knit is so adaptable that it has been imposed upon, like a good-natured friend.

Real Silk has a new philosophy. It believes that hosiery which fits you will look better on you and wear better on you.

That's why Real Silk now features a five-way fit—ankle, calf, top and length as well as footsize.

If you want a new lilt in the look of your hose, a dash more elegance and three dashes more wear you'll try this new hosiery idea.

Only by having a central source from which orders are filled can this enormous variety of leg contour sizes be manufactured. That's why Real Silk alone furnishes this remarkable new service.

Real Silk Personal Fit Hosiery comes to you. A representative rings your doorbell one morning and takes the order which goes to this great center. It is filled from an unbelievable variety of leg sizes constantly going through our mills. If you are impatient, call Real Silk in your city and have them send a representative. It's the pleasantest possible way to shop. Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., Indianapolis, Indiana. Branches in 200 cities.

Try this for size—a permanent record of hosiery measurements. Your Real Silk Representative furnishes a convenient measuring gadget (shown above). You take your measurements at ankle, calf, top and for length. These measurements, as well as footsize are marked on the Hosiery Security Card, which becomes your permanent, handy record.

DON'T CHANGE OIL TWICE A DAY!

It isn't necessary to change oil twice a day this Fall if you use Pennzoil. Yet that is just what you should do if you buy plain oil... light grades for quick lubrication on chilly mornings and nights... heavier grades to stand up during warm afternoons.

The easy, safe way to use less oil this Fall is to get Pennzoil, the oil with the extra margin of safety. It lubricates your cold motor instantly, yet protects it at high operating temperatures. Pennzoil saves gasoline, too. It resists sludge, keeps valves and piston rings working freely to make your motor more efficient.

This is because the pure Pennsylvania crude oil selected for Pennzoil is first double refined for toughness, then solvent-treated to remove sludge-forming elements.

August Hecksher, philanthropist, celebrated his 50th birthday on Aug. 20 by discussing everything from bitterly collecting to Jews and by writing three poems—one about Jehovah and two about Daniel Frohman (right). He sent the last two to a birthday party given by Fannie Hurst. "My poetry," he confided, "gives me astonishing satisfaction."

Daniel Frohman, 86 on Aug. 22, was co-guest of honor with Mr. Hecksher at the Fannie Hurst birthday party. The veteran producer thoughtfully pulled on a big cigar as Mayor LaGuardia made a speech praising him and his fellow integrationist. In a birthday interview he said: "Laborious from meat. On the other hand, I smoke about 40 cigars a week."

Missie O'Hara, 21-year-old Californian, fell in love with the theater in 1939 when she saw George Arliss act as Slegker in San Francisco. She has just sold the Shuberts her first play, Honor Bright, which is about school children. Miss O'Hara herself was twice expelled from school. "It's about a teacher who wants the kids to live," she says.

Kitty Krawan, 86-year-old British actress, was the original Mrs. Tansel in Sons O' Casey's Joss and the Foghorn. Miss Krawan retired from the stage 22 years ago. Last month she appeared in her old role in a London revival of the O'Casey play. Active in film work, she flew nearly 400 miles across North Scotland last year while on location.

Alred Mitchell, 538-lb. British film director (100 Steps, Secret Agent) was surprised on arriving in the U. S. to find food and drink so palatable. While his 80-lb. wife looked on, the noted epurist put away gigantic meals at various restaurants. "I thought that wine over here would be fit only for a fountain pen, but it wasn't," he beamed.

Benny Elliott, 21, is an habitual criminal who started getting into trouble at 11. He has been in two prisons and two mental institutions. Lately he tried to kill his sister-in-law. Blaming it all on a brain wreck at an early age, which caused pressure on his brain, he asked for an operation. "I'd just as soon die as be like this," he said.

Mrs. and Mr. Leslie Howard are shown (above) arriving in New York from Hollywood with their children Donald, 18, and Leslie Ruth, 16, and their golden spaniel Jimmie. Two days later they sailed for England where Mr. Howard will do a flit about Lawrence of Arabia. Admitting his Hamlet was a mistake, Mr. Howard seemed more worried over English quarantine laws which will keep Jimmie up in Southampton for six months. Cunard police showed 500-antograph boards from the Howard cabin.

When she divorced him in 1931 to marry Newspaperman Drew Pearson, it was agreed Abell could have his child six months a year but not take him out of the U. S. When Abell whisked his son off to an English Channel island, the Pearsons quickly followed.

Tyler Abell, Mrs. Drew Pearson's 5-year-old son, was snatched from his father's island hideaway in the English Channel by his mother and stepfather. "Mummy, where have you been?" he cried as the Pearsons, via boat and plane, reached the island. "I'll follow them to the ends of the earth and get back my child," raged Father George Abell.

LIFE'S PICTURES

The plump jovial Frenchman (above) sipping beer in the Café de la Paix, took the pictures of Paris Opéra (see pp. 47-53). His name is Roger Sebille and he was born in the town of Nancy in northeastern France. His favorite place is the Montmartre where he lives and works with his brother. He has become one of his country's best scene photographers and dresses in broad-striped suits, brightly-striped shirts with bow ties, very excited when working. In 1935, he came to New York on the Narvamède as official photographer of the Russian voyage. During the four-day stopover, he took a fancy to French couturiers, Balmain and Coco Cola spiked with rum.

Life Goes to a Party

with four playwrights, a producer & Harpo Marx for a quiet week end in the country

George S. Kaufman has collaborated on more successful plays than any other active dramatist today. (Samples: Of Thee I Sing, Let 'Em Eat Cake, Merrily We Roll Along, Stage Door.) Like many another theatrical celebrity Playwright Kaufman spends much of his time in the wooded country of Pennsylvania's Bucks County. There he and Mrs. Kaufman have a rosy stone house (left) on a 50-acre estate. To it the other week end, the Kaufmans took Playwright Moss Hart with whom Kaufman collaborated on the Pulitzer Prize winner (You Can't Take It With You). Playwright Lillian Hellman (The Children's Hour), Playwright Howard Dietz (Three's A Crowd, Flying Colours), and Harpo Marx, actor and wisecracker. Mrs. Dietz and Mrs. Marx accompanied their husbands.

Conversation ran to epigrams and theatrical shop talk. Nothing spectacular happened. Hosts and guests played bridge and croquet, swam in the pool. Harpo Marx twined leaves in his hair, struck clownish poses (see front cover). Sunday afternoon Max Gordon, producer of the coming Hart-Kaufman I'd Rather Be Right, turned up, went swimming with his glasses on.

Epigram-of-the-week end was uttered by George Kaufman to Howard Dietz: "Say, Howard, I hear you're writing a play full of single-entendres."

Heretofore is as natural to Harpo Marx off stage as on. Here he stands on his head on Moss Hart's stomach by the Kaufmans swimming pool. Harpo's nickname for Hart is "Moose."

Fair at tennis is Lilian Hellman who takes Moss Hart on for a couple of sets on Saturday afternoon. She has a habit of twisting her hair whenever she makes a bad stroke.

Good at tennis is left-handed Moss Hart who took lessons from Ellsworth Vines. Having just bought a house near-by, Hart worries all week end whether his new show will pay for it.

Host Kaufman is a humorist about everything except his croquet game which he plays with deadly seriousness. The difficult Kaufman croquet course boasts extra-narrow wickets.

"Where do I go now, darling!" Mrs. Howard Dietz, a novice at croquet, keeps asking her husband. But because talking out loud is taboo during Kaufman croquet, she whispers it.

Mrs. Susan Fleming Marx, in shorts and sandals, relaxes with a copy of The New Yorker. Her husband begged her to let him buy ducks like the Kaufmans' but she firmly said no.

The Sunday papers occupy George Kaufman for a while in a hammock. Because they carry scant theatrical news in summer, he has to content himself with the Chinese-Japanese war.

Dear Sirs,

This company has been in business for considerably over one hundred years and during that period has always been under the management of my family.

In the essentials of good whisky, age and quality, both our Red Label and our Black Label are today even older and finer than they have ever before been in the past history of our firm, and our enormous stocks of matured whisky, which we are constantly replenishing, ensure that this improvement will be maintained for the future.

Further we pride ourselves on the fact that Johnnie Walker Red Label and Johnnie Walker Black Label are both uniform in age and quality in the United States, the British Isles and the rest of the world.

Yours faithfully,

JOHN WALKER & SONS LIMITED.

Today's Royalchrome

In too many to have a place in any sage's home or shrine, but it does occupy a definite position in the daily routine of the thousands, whether at work or in times of rest and recreation. ROYAL METAL'S line of chairs, stools, tables, settees, desks, porch and terrace furniture and other lovely pieces, is decidedly modern. That it marks a new era in furniture construction and service is as much a fact as is the high regard in which Early American specimens are held.

ROYAL endures not so much to supply oil the demand as it does to maintain the standards upon which its reputation is founded. Whether we can fill your order immediately or not, the catalog to which you are interested will be gladly supplied by any ROYAL dealer, or you may write to us.

On a bench from this office The Toledo News-Ex, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, ran a "Quin-Twin" contest in which they attempted to find the Toledo girl of QuinTuplets fame who most closely resembled the individual Quintuplets Yvonne, Cecile, Marie, Emilie and Annette. More than 150 baby girls were entered and the winners (see above) were listed and "win" (on file) at the Cornerstone Perry Block.

SEENAUER

Lucky Lady . . . with the touch of a finger she controls the world's most willing servitor, ELECTRICITY—yielding light, releasing harnessed power, and providing a magic force that brings to her ear words whispered at the other end of the earth. Behind and beyond the seeming simplicity of this modern miracle is the labyrinth of light and power transmission lines encased in rigid conduit made of COP-R-LOY ... the path of steel for the child of fire ... guarding vital wires against the touch of corrosion that brings failure to the system. This famous copper alloyed steel protects the distribution of light and power for many of America's greatest projects. It is selected by engineers for its plus of endurance as demonstrated under conditions where salt air moisture and other corrosive elements are unusually severe. Triangle Rigid Conduit, fabricated either from COP-R-LOY or from Wheeling Steel, hot galvanized and lacquered finished, is produced by the Triangle Conduit and Cable Company of Brooklyn, New York and Wheeling, West Virginia. MRS. BOK BLOCKS TRUCKS

Sirs:

Last week, all company trucks moving discarded oil tanks from Okauchee, Minn., encountered an obstacle when they found an archway in Roseville town to allow their trucks to pass. A driveway crossed the arch, on property belonging to Mrs. Anne Bok was utilized by the truck drivers. Mrs. Bok saw three pass her window, protested violently. Only two of the three trucks got by. When the third came, Anne Bok procured a pillow and blanket, staged a lie-down strike in the middle of her driveway. Truck drivers called in County Road Commissioners, were told not to lay a hand on Anne Bok, state lawyers shook their heads. Officials finally gave up in disgust, sent the arch down.

MICHIGAN AT BAR

Sirs:

When Michigan legalized liquor three years ago, one of the stipulations was that the drinks must be sipped sitting—no standing at the bar as in the saloon days.

Recently, the State's Liquor Control Act was amended to permit drinkers to stand. The change found Michigan's feet, softened by three years of sitting, totally unprepared to cope with the liquor rail. The picture above will give you some idea of the footwear visible in a Detroit bar as people begin to accustom themselves again to perpendicular drinking. Sister's ankle, a serious affliction, soon makes its appearance. But the lady and girl are gone through their sitting sakes.

Safety
ON ANY ROAD !

These sharp-edged blocks and deep grooves hold the road like teeth in a gear — to give you protection against skids and slides — plus positive traction and safe braking.

On any road in any weather, you'll be safer if you ride on Miller Deluxe Geared-to-the-Road Tires.

When pavements are wet, or slippery with mud, slush or snow — and even where there is no pavement at all — the Miller Geared-to-the-Road tread gives you positive traction, safe braking and full protection against slipping and skidding.

This fine safety tread is built on to an equally safe tire body — made of extra strong cords, each insulated completely in rubber. And the whole tire is strongly reinforced at all vital spots — to give you greater protection against road shocks and dangerous blowouts.

Wherever you see the Miller dealer's sign, you may be sure of getting — at ordinary tire prices — both extra safety and long mileage.
