A vintage color photograph of a busy London street. In the foreground, an optician's cart is set up on the sidewalk. A black sign on the cart reads "YOUR OWN LENSES PUT INTO NEW FRAMES & REPAIRS WHILE YOU WAIT". The cart is filled with various optical supplies, including stacks of cardboard boxes and a tray of lenses. A man wearing a brown trench coat and a fedora hat is leaning over the cart, working on a pair of glasses. Two other men are standing nearby, looking on. One man is wearing a grey suit, and the other is wearing a dark suit. In the background, a red double-decker bus is visible on the street, along with other pedestrians and buildings.
