ncouraged by the great success which has attended the issuing of our former albums, we have decided to offer the present volume to our patrons. It has been prepared only after the most careful and persistent study of the costumes of all nations worn during the many centuries of the world's existence. We are sure it will be not only greatly appreciated as a volume interesting and instructive, but its general attractiveness and artistic coloring will take captive every admirer of the beautiful.

To produce such a volume has naturally necessitated an enormous outlay; but the demand for our cigarettes has so increased, day by day, month by month, that we can best thank our patrons for their continued kindness by offering the present album.

Yours truly
